'BARBAROUS' AGGRESSION' REBEL CHARGES

PERSIAN GULF (AP)—The rebel Imam of Oman has appealed to 29 Afro-Asian nations, including Red China, to put an end to Britain's "barbarous . . . flagrant aggression" in the sun-baked sultanate, it was announced today.

The Imam's spokesman in Cairo handed out a statement accusing Britain of "killing old men, women and children and destroying homes and mosques."

(In London, the British Foreign Office firmly denied the charges and said only military targets have been attacked.

(The Foreign Office also said the area held by the rebels is "steadily contracting" and only one tribe, headed by Suleiman Ben Himya, now is supporting the rebel cause.

U.S. to Probe Cuba Incident

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department today ordered a full report from the U.S. Embassy in Havana on the controversial visit of Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith to the rebel centre of Santiago on Wednesday.

At the same time the state department asserted a hands off policy towards Cuba's turbulent political situation.

Senate Rider on Bill 'A Threat', Says Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the provision for trial by jury added to the civil rights bill by the Senate threatens to weaken the United States judicial system. He said it will make the bill "largely ineffective" in protecting the rights of all Americans to vote.

Eisenhower previously pictured by Senator John Peter (Rep.-Mich.) as "damn unhappy" over the Senate action, gave his views in a statement marked by sharp language.

He said the 51 to 42 vote guaranteeing jury trials in criminal contempt cases would be "bitterly disappointing" to many millions of Americans. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who said Eisenhower dictated the statement to him, declined to tell reporters why the president will veto the bill if it is finally passed by Congress in the form of the Senate measure.

A possibility that it may not do so this year was foreseen

by Senator William F. Knowland of California, the Republican leader.

Knowland, Senate Republican leader from California, told reporters he had "no alibi" for the 51-42 vote by which the Senate adopted a jury trial amendment shortly after midnight.

"I just didn't have the votes," he said.

Adoption of the amendment, he said, probably means that any measure the Senate passes will be tied up in a Senate House of Representatives disagreement. The House had rejected any provision for jury trials.

On the roll call vote the party line-up was 39 Democrats and 12 Republicans for the amendment and nine Democrats and 33 Republicans against it.

Only two senators, both ill, were absent. Knowland said before the vote on the amendment that its adoption would be "a fatal blow" to the bill and so weaken it that it would be virtually unworkable.

Rain Ends Costly 'Peg Dry Spell

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Two inches of rain fell over some sections of southern Manitoba Thursday night and early today, ending a long dry spell.

A deluge hit Winnipeg early today dropping 1.4 inches of rain and felling a couple of hydro lines clogging sewers and tripping a number of burglar alarms.

A tree was toppled across Centennial Street.

Basements, subways and a railway station were flooded. Brandon—in western Manitoba—was hardest hit in a fierce two-hour drubbing which dumped two inches of rain during a thunderstorm Thursday.

Water streamed through the Canadian Pacific Railway station and onto the tracks.

CPR officials said the line was slightly weakened in a minor washout within Brandon's city limits.

More than one inch of rain fell within the first 10 minutes of the storm. Up to 30 per cent of the city's basements were flooded.

Hail was reported in an area between Souris and Alexander, 175 miles west of Winnipeg. Damage to crops on two farms in the district is estimated at 100 per cent.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Dear Lord, as the waves roll on unceasingly and break upon the shore, and we feel their power around us and over us, so may Thy loving presence come from the depths and break over us unceasingly. May we feel the power of Thy grace so that no threat of harm shall make us afraid, but only more aware of our dependence upon Thee. Cool us, cleanse us, refresh us as we commit our life unto Thee this day; in Christ's name. Amen.

MEMBERS' IRISH UP

Overall in Murphy Chowder Okay But 'Mick' Stirs House Clambake

WASHINGTON (UP)—Members of Congress including the Irish agreed today it was an Irishman who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder.

But the lawmakers disagreed on whether it's an insult to the Irish to refer to the guilty party as a "Mick."

Rep. Thomas J. O'Neill (Dem.-Mass.) raised the question during a hearing before the usually solemn House rules committee, called to consider whether to investigate radio-TV networks for Stephen Foster's folk songs to take out words such as "Darkies" and "Massa."

Southerners have raised a clamor about the editing, calling it censorship and a distortion of native American folk music.

O'Neill said if anything should be banned from the air it is the words to the song, "Who Threw the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder?" he was particularly concerned about the "insulting" lines:

"It's an Irish trick it's true, and I can lick the Mick who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder."

A quick check found little support for O'Neill among his Irish colleagues.

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (Dem.-O.) told a reporter he wouldn't worry about being called a Mick—"if that's the worst they're going to call us."

"The Irish are the only people I ever heard sing the song," said Rep. John J. Rooney (Dem.-N.Y.). "I don't think we'd sing it if we thought it was insulting."

The committee decided to take no action on the resolution to launch an inquiry despite complaints from Reps. Frank Chelf (Dem.-Ky.) and D. R. Matthews (Dem.-Fla.) that the networks were practicing censorship and undermining American culture.

Informed of O'Neill's complaint about the chowder song Rep. Wayne L. Hays (Dem.-O.) of predominately Scotch ancestry, said: "The only one who would be insulted about the overalls is Mrs. Murphy."

Living Cost Index Hits New High

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs in Canada hit record levels in June, the bureau of statistics reported today, with the consumer price index rising for the fourth consecutive month to 121.9.

The June rise of three-tenths of a point, mainly due to higher food costs, capped a 12-month increase of 2.9 per cent from July 1 of last year.

The index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

The index had advanced by relatively small steps in the eight months after July of 1956, rising from 118.5 to 120.5 at March 1. Then, in the following four months it jumped successively to 120.9, 121.1, 121.6 and now to 121.9.

There were also rises in the indexes for shelter and for household operations, but no changes in the figures for clothing and for other commodities and services.

The index for household operation costs moved upwards to 119.6 from 119.1 because of higher costs for appliances, furniture, household equipment and domestic help.

B.C. Workers Highest Paid

OTTAWA (CP)—Average weekly wages and salaries earned by Canadians rose to a record $67.78 at June 1, the bureau of statistics said today.

The June 1 figure compares with the previous high of $67.36 at May 1 and $63.93 at June 1 of last year.

Workers in British Columbia earned the highest weekly wages at $74.54. Ontario followed with $70.33, Alberta with $69.22, Quebec with $65.04, Saskatchewan with $64.21, Manitoba with $63.21, Nova Scotia $56, New Brunswick with $55.56 and Prince Edward Island with $52.89.

HIGH WINDS SUNDAY THREATEN STRAIT SWIM

Weather signs point to possible 25-30 miles an hour gale in Juan de Fuca Strait Sunday, which would kill the Junior Chamber of Commerce second annual mass swim marathon scheduled to start at 12 noon.

A storm system expected could leave weather sunny but blustery, the weather office forecast today. Marathon chairman Lieut. George Colwill said postponement would be on a day-to-day basis and official announcement of the start would be at least 12 hours before the time set.

U.S., Russ Set To Battle Flu

LONDON (Reuters)—The Soviet Union and the United States today prepared to battle a common foreign opponent, Asiatic influenza.

"Asiatic influenza has come to this country," Soviet Health Minister Maria Kovriga said Thursday in Moscow. "We have had some outbreaks in some of our cities. We are aware of the grave danger presented by this."

U.S. Surgeon-General Leroy Burney said the epidemic will cause serious economic disruption when it reaches the United States this fall or winter. He said in Washington Thursday night the flu might affect 10 per cent or more of the population in six weeks even with maximum use of vaccine.

Asiatic influenza was first reported in Japan last December. It spread rapidly among Asia's millions. It hit Peiping in March, Hong Kong in April, then spread to Australia and many other parts of the world.

The World Health Organization has consistently stressed the "very mild" nature of the flu. But other scientists point out that flu epidemics often start mildly enough but that second and third waves carry high incidents of death. The great flu epidemic of 1918-1919 started as a mild form but eventually killed an estimated 20,000,000.

Symptoms of the disease are high temperature, headache, sore throat, cough and muscle aches. The fever lasts from three to five days, followed by weakness for several more days.

Dr. Burney said three deaths have been reported, so far among 11,000 U.S. cases. Latest outbreaks include those at Santiago, Chile, where more than 25 per cent of the city's population of 1,100,000 are reported to be affected; at Khartoum, Sudan, with 42,000 cases, and in South Africa and Malaya. At Penang, North Malaya, a whopping cough epidemic followed the Asian flu, affected several thousand persons, mainly children.

Blast Rocks Subway

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A blast rocked a six-car subway train during the morning rush hour today, injuring scores and causing panic in the underground tube. The three hospitals to which the injured were taken said none was hurt severely. Many suffered cuts from smashed windows. Others were treated for shock.

Soviet Could See All Canada, U.S. If They Do Same

LONDON (Reuters)—The West today made sweeping proposals at the disarmament sub-committee meeting here to open up the Northern Hemisphere, including Canada, to ground and aerial inspection, but won a cool response from Valerian Zorin, the Soviet delegate.

Conference sources said Zorin did not reject outright the plans put forward by U.S. State Secretary Dulles for guarding against surprise military attack, but expressed "surprise and misgiving" over them.

Dulles, after days of discussion with the four western delegations here, had offered to open Canada and the United States for inspection in return for similar facilities all over the Soviet Union. Alternatively, he offered to swap vast areas of the Arctic for inspection.

A British informant said Zorin promised to study the proposals carefully but complained that none of the proposed zones covered pro-western bases in Africa, Japan and Pakistan.

Dulles Offer Backed by West

This source said that Zorin contended that proposals to prevent surprise attack should be linked to other measures of disarmament. Otherwise, it would not help to prevent war.

Dulles made the offer in person with the support of the three Western powers which sit on the subcommittee with the United States, Canada, France and Britain.

He told Valerian Zorin, the Soviet representative, that if Russia accepted either one of these offers the West was prepared to extend its "open skies" policy to a further zone in Europe.

It could extend either from the west coast of Ireland to the Ural mountains of Russia, embracing northern Spain and northern Turkey, or could be more limited as long as it included a significant part of Soviet territory.

Dulles, speaking on behalf of the four Western members of the subcommittee, proposed that a working group of experts be set up "as a matter of urgency" to examine the technical problems involved.

The offer provided for "aerial inspection, with ground observation posts at principal ports, railroad junctions, main highways and important airfields, etc., as agreed.

On Alert for Surprise Attacks

"There would also, as agreed, be mobile ground teams with specifically defined authority."

Ground posts could, under agreement, be established to operate outside the zones of aerial inspection, Dulles said. But the areas open to ground inspection should not be less than the areas of aerial inspection.

He said any initial inspection system could later be extended so that "ultimately the system will deal with the danger of surprise attack from anywhere."

Dulles came to the conference table with the approval of the 15-member NATO council. Its members had to be consulted since territories outside the United States, Canada, France and Britain were involved.

The two inspection areas offered, in order of priority were: 1. All the territory of the continental United States, all Alaska including the Aleutian Islands, all the territory of Canada, and all the territory of the Soviet Union.

2. Alternatively, all territory north of the Arctic Circle of the Soviet Union, Canada, United States Alaska, Denmark Greenland and Norway, and all territory of Canada, the United States and the Soviet Union.

Hospital Claims Inability to Pay

VERNON—The administrator of the Vernon Hospital says the hospital cannot pay the wages demanded by non-medical employees, who J. O. Dale said the hospital had a $13,000 deficit last year. He said the award of a conciliation board to workers would cost $9,500 a year.

"We have written to the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service asking if it will pick up the entire cost of the demands but so far we have received no answer," Mr. Dale said.

The strike threat has been made by 80 employees of the Hospital Employees Union, Local 180.

Bill Black, union business manager, said the workers are determined to get a conciliation award of ten cents an hour retroactive to Jan. 1 plus a $7.50 increase in monthly wages for men, and five cents an hour for women.

Mr. Dale said the Vernon hospital pays wages as high as are paid in other Okanagan hospitals.

"Wage contracts in the other hospitals don't run out until December. I don't see why we should pay any increase at least until that time."

VANCOUVER—Two federal buildings costing $2,675,000 are scheduled to be built on the UBC campus.

They will form a three-unit block with a forest products laboratory now under construction and expected to open before Christmas.

Tenders have been let for a Fisheries technological station to be built within two years at a cost of $675,000.

Final drawings for a new science services laboratory for the federal department of agriculture are expected to be completed within two weeks and will be forwarded to Ottawa for approval.

The building will cost about $2,000,000.

Cuba Angered Over Actions Of U.S. Envoy

HAVANA (UP)—Government anger rose today against U.S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith and there were reports he may be asked to leave the country because he visited rebel-held areas in eastern Cuba.

Total news censorship, imposed under a decree suspending civil rights for 45 days, veiled military developments in the area.

But in Havana Smith became the target of an unprecedented campaign of attacks by government spokesmen because of his critical comments Wednesday on police precautions in rebel-infested Santiago.

Informed circles said it was unlikely the administration would go so far as to throw him out of Cuba.

A Cuban "white house" spokesman announced, however, that Foreign Minister Gonzalo Guller has been instructed to get hold of Smith "for the purpose of discussing his unfortunate declarations in Santiago."

The pro-government organ Alenta carried a statement by its publisher, Communications Minister Ramon Vasconcelos, accusing the ambassador of "imperialistic meddling" in Cuba's affairs.

"Mr. Smith has permitted himself to express opinions on domestic questions about which he knows nothing," Vasconcelos said.

"He acts with less tact than was to be expected from a diplomat just arrived in a country that is not an American colony, that has a legally constituted government and that is faced with an abnormal situation which it is trying to solve."

Minister without portfolio Jose Gonzalez Puente made a similar statement to newsmen after a cabinet meeting.

"Cuba rejects and repudiates anything which appears to be interference in its domestic affairs," Gonzalez said.

"It is unfortunate that there should be any misconception as to the functions of a foreign diplomatic representative in a country which enjoys full sovereignty."

Chinese Reds Accuse Sect Of Plotting

HONG KONG (Reuters)—The New China (Communist) News Agency reported today that security police in Tashien, southwest China, have unearthed a counter-revolutionary organization called the "Sword Society" whose aim was to stir up anti-Communist riots.

The society spread rumors that "the people will rise against the government in the month of August this year and a king will emerge from the strife," the agency said. It was uncovered in June.

Security police were said to have arrested the society's leader, Kan Tsai Yung, and his lieutenants, Yao Tse Wen, Kan Tsai Ta and Wang Tsung Hsiao.

Castillo Armas was shot last Friday night by a palace guard, Romero Vasquez Sanchez, who officials said was a Communist fanatic. After killing the president, who ousted a Communist-tinged government three years ago, the guard killed himself.

Official reports at first gave the impression that the assassin acted on his own. The government announced last Monday, however, that eight palace guards had been arrested in connection with the killing, and other arrests were then rumored.

The Gorge waters will not be polluted by the installation of septic tanks on Christie Point at Portage Inlet, according to the provincial health department.

This opinion was expressed in a letter to the Victoria Esquimalt Health Board which was concerned over prospective installation of septic tanks in a subdivision on the peninsula.

Inspection of the site, the department said, had shown the lots to be suitable for septic tank installation. It added that it did not believe Saanich would agree to connecting a sewer from the point to the Saanich system.

Air Defence Pool For Canada, U.S.

OTTAWA (CP) — A pooled operational headquarters for North America's air defences is to be set up soon with an American in command and a Canadian as his deputy.

Defence Minister Pearkes announced Thursday that an integrated command is being set up at Colorado Springs, Colo., where "joint plans and procedures will be worked out in peacetime, ready for immediate use in case of emergency." A similar announcement was made in Washington.

General Earle Partridge of the United States Air Force is to head the integrated setup, and Air Marshal C. R. Slemmon, 53, chief of Canada's air staff, is to be his deputy.

CAMPBELL MOVES UP

Air Marshal Hugh Campbell, 49, is to succeed Slemmon as head of the RCAF. A former commander of the Canadian Air Division in Europe, he now is deputy chief of staff operations at NATO headquarters in Fontainebleau, France.

The move implies no redeployment of RCAF strength, Mr. Pearkes told a press conference, nor does it mean expansion of either the force or its airfield facilities. There would be no deployment of additional United States servicemen to Canadian soil, and the USAF components stationed in Newfoundland would be left under RCAF control.

The move was designed to enable Canada's and the United States air forces to work out common procedures while there is time, and to vest one man—who could be the American or the Canadian on duty at the time—with the authority to order the continent's air defence forces into the skies "as soon as a group of planes has been determined as being hostile."

REMAIN SEPARATE

Other aspects of the two countries' air forces would remain national responsibilities. They would continue their own discipline, administration, logistics, communications and unit training.

Gen. Partridge's headquarters would be essentially a planning formation, occasionally exercising the two air forces in gigantic manoeuvres, but always readying itself against the day when it might have to use its supreme defence power.

Besides the RCAF's nine home based fighter interceptor squadrons, it would have available the force's vast communications and logistics organization, plus the DEW (distant early warning) and Mid-Canada radar lines and the Pinetree radar control network.

The defence minister said the role of Canada's projected CF-105 supersonic jet fighter, on which more than $200,000,000 already has been spent, is still to be determined. The CF-105 program will be up for review later this year.

WON'T GET A-WEAPONS

Mr. Pearkes added that there is no suggestion that under the new command Canadian fighters will be equipped immediately with atomic weapons.

The idea had been a long time in developing.

Two years ago Air Marshal Slemmon first suggested it publicly during a Montreal visit by a group of aviation writers.

Questioned by then Opposition leader Drew about the idea, former defence minister Campney told the Commons the air marshal had been discussing "a trend in service thinking" rather than policy.

Mr. Pearkes said Wednesday the thinking had reached the policy stage during the latter months of the Liberal government. He did not know whether defence minister Campney had placed it before the Liberal government.

The integrated air defence headquarters will be responsible to the chiefs of staff of both countries, and the procedures developed will require the approval of both governments before becoming the authorized pattern.

Thereafter, however, sole responsibility for sending the air defenders into the skies to attack an invading force would rest with Gen. Partridge or, in his absence, Air Marshal Slemmon.

"He would take the decision to start the shooting," Mr. Pearkes said.

The development was a natural extension of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization provision that constituent members organize bilateral arrangements to ensure balanced defence of their areas, he said.

Federal Aid Needed by Nfld.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Newfoundland must have federal financial aid if it is to support aged, disabled and needy people, a three-man royal commission investigating the province's financial position was told Thursday.

R. L. Andrews of the Newfoundland welfare department said that to continue properly the province needs more than $5,000,000 for a home for delinquent boys and a new home for the aged.

Assistance was also needed either to make provincial payments to schools for the blind and deaf in Halifax or to establish similar institutions in Newfoundland.

"It is impossible to care for all the needy people . . . unless special assistance is forthcoming in one form or another from the federal government," he said.

Mr. Andrews said the province has "the lowest per capita income in Canada."

Positive and Negative

MR. CHARLES A. BOWMAN, who is called the father of Social Credit in Canada and is now a retired resident of Victoria, writes on this page today an article well worth the reader's attention. We publish it not because we agree with Mr. Bowman's views but because they are significant, educated and honest. They represent one of the great issues about which the Canadian people will have to think hard before the next national election.

Mr. Bowman presents two distinct propositions and his judgment on both, we believe, is quite wrong.

First, he argues (he is quite right here) that society in the past has often suffered from an insufficiency of purchasing power in relation to the available goods. That, of course, with many other complex international factors — was the major cause of the great depression.

But then, quite wrongly, Mr. Bowman goes on to argue that our need today is more purchasing power and that the St. Laurent Government was repudiated for attempting to restrict purchasing power by its so-called tight-money policy. He concludes, therefore, that the Conservative Party, by attacking high interest rates and credit restriction, presented a forward-looking, liberal policy, while the Liberals were entirely conservative and negative.

As to the Conservative Government, the proof of its monetary policy will appear in the eating. The level of prices a year from now, and not the campaign speeches, will tell us whether the Government is managing money better or worse than its predecessors.

There can be no doubt, however, that the situation in Canada a year ago — a quick upsurge of inflationary pressure — required some restriction of money. If the supply had not been limited the price situation today would be much worse than it is, though the current problem has become mainly a cost and wage, rather than a monetary inflation.

Mr. Bowman is quite right again in saying that a democratic society must control the instrument of money and cannot safely leave that control in private hands.

He is wrong in believing, as he seems to believe, that governments will ever knowingly make the money supply too small. On the contrary, their constant temptation, because this is politically popular, will be to make the supply too large and thus solve their financial difficulties by quietly debasing the currency, as they have already done throughout the world.

Once the state took control of money the danger of a short supply disappeared. The danger of an excessive supply was instantly increased because politicians are always tempted to play politics with the currency. The Liberal Government did the opposite. It adopted an unpopular policy, believing it to be sound, and was defeated by the promise of a popular policy which, under present conditions, would certainly be unsound.

Mr. Bowman's second proposition is correct as a postulate, incorrect in its conclusion.

He says that government must set monetary policy, that this policy cannot be left to the Bank of Canada or any other set of experts. Quite so. But that is precisely our situation in Canada today.

The St. Laurent Government set a policy — a policy of resisting inflation and, so far as monetary methods could influence them, of holding prices in check.

The Bank of Canada accordingly carried out that policy by limiting the volume of money, which is mostly bank credit. As a result, interest rates rose. And so long as the demand for the existing money is strong they will remain relatively high unless the money supply is expanded; that is to say, unless the state decides to follow a policy of inflation.

If the state decides on a policy of inflation it can certainly produce that result, despite the Bank or any other authority, by spending more and taxing less; or if necessary by coercing the Bank, under amended legislation, increasing the currency volume and thus reducing interest rates.

This sort of policy apparently is what Mr. Bowman calls "progressive" and he expects the Diefenbaker Government to follow it. If so, "progress" is likely to prove increasingly expensive to the consumer.

Of course the time can come when an inflation, carried far enough, can produce a deflation as high prices restrict sales. This has happened already in our lumber industry.

Then a planned easing of credit, an increase in the money volume and purchasing power will be needed. Undoubtedly it will be arranged by any government and any central bank. A premature movement in this direction, however, will only increase the inflation and then the resulting deflation. That is our real danger in Canada today.

The Broken Contract

IN AN ADMIRABLE SPEECH TO Parliament last November Mr. Davie Fulton, member for Kamloops, demanded that the St. Laurent Government give "immediate and unrestricted asylum" to the victims of the Hungarian revolution.

After some hesitation, the Government agreed to this policy and, by the middle of this summer, had admitted some 33,000 Hungarian refugees.

But Mr. Fulton, as minister of justice and acting minister of immigration, has changed his mind completely since November. All the noble aspirations of last autumn are suddenly repealed this summer. The door has been slammed shut in the faces of thousands of Hungarians who had expected a welcome here.

Besides them, thousands of other Europeans who had arranged to make a new life in Canada will not be admitted under the Diefenbaker Government's new immigration policy.

Oddly enough, this policy of restriction is applied by the very statesmen who condemned Mr. Pickersgill for his red tape, bureaucracy and delay in admitting immigrants. The Conservative Opposition promised to change all this. It would see that the immigrants got a square deal, that officials of the immigration department were prevented from acting arbitrarily.

But instead of reform in the immigration department we have from Mr. Fulton a policy which bars from Canada (with the exception of people from Britain and France) virtually every European who has not secured a job here, or sponsorship from a Canadian citizen, in advance.

This Government, of course, is not legally bound by the promises of its predecessors, but what about the moral commitment, especially the moral commitment to the Hungarian freedom fighters? While that commitment was given by the former Government, it was supported, indeed demanded by the Conservative Opposition, most emphatically by Mr. Fulton. And the commitment has been repudiated without notice or warning.

It will be useless to explain to the refugees now living in the camps of Europe that a Canadian Government has been defeated, a new one installed and a new policy established. All these people know, all that Europe as a whole knows, is that the word of Canada has been broken. The Russian propagandists, we may be sure, will see to it that this breach of faith is advertised to the whole world.

The shut-downs appear to be the corollary to drastically reduced earnings among the big companies so far this year. Reports from the large firms show that production costs are up, markets are down and customers outside Canada are dealing with suppliers who sell more cheaply.

This is a situation which concerns everyone in the province since British Columbia counts on the woods industries to provide half its wealth. It is of special concern to the men who work in the forests and processing plants. Jobs the industry furnishes are their livelihood.

As the iron logic of the market presses down on them, perhaps they may give broader consideration to the health of the industry. Its health determines their standard of living.

This Isn't the November Story

'Two Scorpions in a Bottle'

(The following is an excerpt from a question-and-answer interview with Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, the noted physicist, in the Parisian magazine "Realites.")

QUESTION: Could you tell us, Dr. Oppenheimer, of these dangers threatening a world which you say is "in bad shape?"

A. The material dangers? Or the spiritual dangers? The former are striking. Knowledge has brought power to 20th century man, power above all to do evil, much more evil than before. Nuclear weapons and all the machinery of war surrounding us now haunt our imagination with an apocalyptic vision that could well become a terrible reality: the disappearance of man as a species from the surface of the earth. It is quite possible. But what is more probable, more immediate and in my opinion equally terrifying is the prospect that man will survive while losing his precious heritage, his civilization and his very humanity.

The danger is striking in this period of cold war in which two great powers will eventually be in a position to put an end to civilization, to our way of life and eventually to life itself on the simple condition of consenting to risk their own lives. They are like two scorpions in a bottle, capable of murdering each other as they commit suicide.

In the face of this terrible threat we do not see the road traced out for us, even though it is a clear one: to persuade the governments of the world to join in laying the foundations of a system in which persuasion would replace coercion in human affairs.

Threat of Apocalypse

Instead of this, we have chosen to read — correctly, no doubt — in the past that lesson which teaches us that a policy of weakness has always led to disaster. But have we discovered an intelligible indication in the future that a policy of force will be able to save us? The threat of Apocalypse may be with us for a long time.

Q. You also mentioned spiritual dangers.

A. You know as well as I do that the biological sciences are progressing in enormous strides. We are now beginning to understand the human mind, the functioning of memory, its mechanism and its probable operation. Will we know how to make a wise use of the possibility of controlling men's thoughts tomorrow? We have every reason to doubt this. On the contrary, what do we see as a forerunner of this era so close at hand? Brain washing. Propaganda — that marriage of crude psychology and refined technology in methods. For daily horror the expert destruction of the mind of man (it is becoming more expert daily) exceeds any of nature's disasters.

In short, all these powers can be justified morally only if they are never used. But how can we solve the problem of the legitimate utilization of this immense power now in our hands? The anarchic autonomy of the world's sixty-two governments doesn't make things simpler. Nor does the fact that the good will be found in the best of those governments is applied principally within each nation. Nor does the present-day absence of any universal moral code of ethics common to all men.

The solution is made all the more difficult by the Communist ideology, which refuses any sincere co-existence with other forms of society. Communism refuses this because of the traditional hostility of the powers on the other side of the Iron Curtain and because of the morbid appetite of these countries for power. It certainly is not rendered any easier, either, by those vast continents whose domination by Europe has led them straight into a passionate surge of nationalism and a false and bitter estimate of the heritage of the West.

Q. What is the attitude of a man of science in the face of such a situation?

A. We all had the impression that the explosion of the first atomic bomb would mean not only the end of a large and terrible war but also the end of all mankind's big wars.

Not Soviet Idea

Shortly afterwards the government of the United States made several very moderate suggestions with a view to international control of atomic energy on a level of friendship and confidence. But, frankly, friendship and co-operation with the capitalist powers were apparently not what the Soviet government had in mind.

We, men of goodwill, found ourselves confronted by the evidence, which became stronger and stronger, of Soviet hostility. At the same time we could also see undeniable signs that Soviet power was growing in the face of all the tragic symptoms of weakness and disunity in the free world.

Atomic research was therefore given a very simple role: "Keep our lead over the enemy at all costs." And so the arms race began.

Those who participated in the development of atomic energy for destructive purposes felt a deep concern and became conscious of their weighty responsibilities. They were responsible for having made possible, and to a large extent, for having achieved the atomic bomb. This weapon, as it was used, dramatized mercilessly before our eyes the inhumanity and evil constituted by war. The physicists have sinned. They will never be able to forget it.

ON ALL COUNTS

The reason that we bought the Britannia is quite basic in the aircraft industry, in that we felt that the aircraft was the best aircraft flying in the world today for the particular job that we had to do. It is the longest range aircraft in the world; its cost per seat-mile is the lowest of any aircraft in the world; it is the fastest aircraft in the world licensed today, and for these reasons and the fact that we have routes that fit this aircraft it is almost essential that we buy an aircraft such as the Britannia. Another big advantage which we had to consider was that, as we fly to five different continents and as runways vary in different parts of the world, we had to have an aircraft that not only would do what I have told you before, but would fly from every runway now being used in the world by commercial airlines.

Policy on Money

By CHARLES A. BOWMAN

BEFORE the next general election, the Liberal party throughout Canada would do well to take a new look at monetary policy. Liberal candidates in the last campaign had nothing convincing to offer in answer to the discontent over results produced by the Bank of Canada's policy of credit restriction.

In effect, the Liberal position was negative: the Progressive Conservative party, for once, could lay claim to being the progressive party. The Liberal candidates were in the position of fighting a defensive rear-guard action, while John Diefenbaker led a forward campaign.

On the issue of monetary reform, some Liberals were worse than conservative and negative: they were absurdly abusive. The Liberal member for Victoria, B.C., Francis T. Fairry, an educated, public-spirited man of moderate views, had so little to offer — in answer to the popular demand for monetary reform known as Social Credit — he tried to dismiss it as nothing more than crackpot. As the majority of members of the provincial legislature of British Columbia are elected under the banner of Social Credit, it surely showed ineptitude, as a Liberal reply to the monetary reform movement, to imply that British Columbia's political intelligence rated so low, as repeatedly to elect a crackpot administration.

Whatever effect the negative Liberal position had on the questing vote, looking for leadership out of credit restriction — the forerunner of deflation — it inspired no confidence in the Liberal appeal for another term of office. Nor is there any more likelihood of a nationwide revival of confidence, to Liberal advantage, in the next general election unless there is a forward Liberal policy — on monetary reform.

Vital Instrument

It is a fantastic departure from the Liberal understanding of government under democracy to argue that the Bank of Canada must be allowed to determine monetary policy. The Bank is, of course, a vital instrument in the national structure. In the administration of monetary policy, it should be as free from political interference as the Supreme Court is in the administration of justice. But the government of Canada, responsible to parliament, must determine monetary policy — even as the government is responsible for determining military policy or tariff policy.

Since the gold standard went into eclipse, more than twenty-five years ago, it has become manifestly imperative to have government control of currency and credit. Failure of control can gravely affect the nation's life. In the words of His Holiness Pope Pius XI: "Control of financial policy is control of the very life-blood of the entire economic body." In less complicated times, before this age of nuclear power, automation and electronics — and revolutionary overturning — a super-government of the gold standard could be left to decide when money should be made scarce or plentiful, and where it should be allowed to flow. Private control served 19th century requirements through the Bank of England — and subordinate banking enterprises through the civilized world. Dire consequences followed the breakdown, in years of chronic depression after 1930 — and it would be well to remember that the chronic breakdown came about when private interests, the super-government of credit power, controlled monetary policy.

It would be possible to cite many authorities on this private control — as in the City of London. A former Chancellor of the Exchequer, Right Hon. Reginald McKenna, in 1927, said it explicitly: "The Bank of England is in practice the controller of the volume of money."

When the Conservative prime minister of Canada, Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, during the chronic depression, established the Bank of Canada, he spoke, with a sense of humor, of the presidents of Canada's highly efficient private banks as "hitherto our masters: henceforth to be our servants."

Nationally Owned

As leader of the Liberal opposition in the House of Commons, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King insisted that the Bank of Canada must be nationally owned and controlled. He said: "Once a nation parts with the control of its currency and credit, it matters not who makes the nation's laws. Usury, once in control, will wreck any nation. Until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to the government and recognized as its most conspicuous and sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and democracy is idle and futile."

When Mackenzie King came back to office in 1935, he had the support of able Liberal members in favor of monetary reform, but negative forces prevailed — and Canada continued in depression and unemployment until the demands of Second World War put money back into circulation. Since the war, Canada has enjoyed an increasing flow from the pool of production to the people as consumers. In the years ahead, the task of leadership will be to maintain purchasing power to continue that abundant flow. The 19th century control of monetary policy, with recurring periods of inflation and deflation, can no longer serve in this overturning middle period of the 20th century. There has to be liberal forward movement.

As Our Readers See It

Oak Bay?

According to reports in the press, "Saanchik has 35,000 population enough for a city. Oak Bay about 15,000 enough for a town."

Recently there has been quite a bit of talk about having a liquor store in Oak Bay. Why not? Personally if I were a member of the Oak Bay and Saanchik councils, I would advocate that both these places are most decidedly in favour of a liquor store each.

If I were a ratepayer in those districts, I would immediately amalgamate these two places, Oak Bay and Saanchik. I don't think they should amalgamate with Victoria at all, because it would not work out satisfactory for them to join Victoria at any time.

Victoria is actually a play town to my mind, and to join Saanchik with them would not be fair to Saanchik, because the time is coming when Saanchik could actually be a city itself, but I think if they did amalgamate it should be with Oak Bay, for the benefit of both.

Prompted by T. Kershaw's criticism of Island road conditions, may I suggest to him to speculate on the annual cost of stenciling on our highways the childish admonition "Keep B.C. Green — Use Your Ash Tray."

Even though a considerable number of British Columbia residents are not nicotine addicts all must contribute, to the cost of this precautionary reminder.

So, say I, the venerable minister of highways would do well to consider taxing tobacco consumers to cover the cost of this item in his budget and thus use his funds in the manner he no doubt wishes they could be used — solely for construction.

Business With Britain

A few days ago you had a leading article concerning Mr. Diefenbaker's project of transferring 15 per cent of Canada's present purchases from the USA to Great Britain.

While appreciating fully the difficulties of such an undertaking I would like to suggest that before pronouncing it to be impossible it would be wise to consider it from all angles. It would surely be a mistake either to overestimate the difficulties or to underestimate Mr. Diefenbaker's determination and ingenuity.

It is, I think, generally admitted that if this could be done it would be a good thing for Canada besides being a good thing for Great Britain because the present rate of excess of our imports from the USA over our exports to them is impossibly high.

This being the case it would be well to ask ourselves why it is so, and I would suggest that when decisions are made giving business to the USA rather than to Great Britain it is by no means always because Britain is unable to compete as regards prices and quality but because of the bias of the purchasing agency.

In saying this I am thinking of the very large number of American or largely American firms that are operating over here at the present time and the many instances in which American interests are in a position to pull strings when it comes to the allocating of an order.

Just what could be done to overcome such a state of affairs so that there would at least be fair competition, I do not profess to know but perhaps it could be done.

Whether it would be possible to make it necessary for any order to be placed outside Canada over a certain amount to be only permissible if by tender properly advertised in advance, I do not know. There may easily be better means of attaining the desired end.

In all the suggestions I have read regarding a memorial to perpetuate Victoria's centenary celebration I have waited for one including our Indian population.

As no one else seems to be considering this, I would like to say that I consider we shall make a very serious mistake if they are not included. They were here a century ago and long before we came and pre-empted our claims. The Indian race is a definite part of our history and culture. We have heard of loggers and prospectors and school teachers, but all came after the Indians. I would suggest a composite group — including the Indian — if any statue is to be erected. Let us have a clear picture of B.C. as it was and still is.

Something Under My Hat

WHEN I WAS younger and more impressionable, I met Admiral the Honorable Sir Reginald Aylmer Ranfurly Plunkett-Erle-Drax. He brought ships here from the West Indies for one of Victoria's early "Navy Weeks."

At the time I was covering City Hall, distinguished visitors used to make formal calls on the mayor. The mayor used to call in the press. The noted sailor and I weren't buddy-buddy, but we met.

My memory is a little hazy on details. I'm not sure that he was Admiral, Honorable or sir. But I do know that I had never seen so many hyphens in a name, nor so much gold braid.

The hyphens intrigued me. I considered the possibility of using them myself. Trippingly to the tongue came "A. Harling-St. Ott." More euphonious still was "A. Harling-St. Ott." The vague thought passed through my mind that if, for great service to the Commonwealth and Empire I should be noticed in appropriate places, and given a prefix to my name. . . . But then, Canadians aren't supposed to like titles.

IT COULD BE DONE

At all events it seemed to me that A. Harling-St. Ott looked pretty imposing. With a handle like that you'd never recognize the skinny kid who grew up in the eel-grass of Foul Bay. And since I covered courtrooms at the same time, I knew the change could be arranged by deed poll at very little expense. There was a certain seduction to the speculation.

But my mail kept coming to me addressed "Scott," "Bill Stout" and "A. K. Stott," so I gave the whole idea up. If they'd only call me Stott I'd be happy enough.

In my age I realize I couldn't have kidded anybody by the hyphenation, and if I had impressed people, it would have been unfavorably.

But if I no longer envy Admiral Honorable Sir Reginald Aylmer Ranfurly Plunkett-Erle-Drax his hyphens, I do envy his gold braid and I'd like to do something about it.

I am now master—admiral if you like—of a stubby nine-foot green rowboat with a three-horse outboard. Only those who have spent years wearing the seat out of their dungarees as they rowed on a hard thwart can appreciate the sense of importance I derive from my new-found power.

But there is a worm in the apple of my content, a fly in my cup of happiness. Nobody else is at all impressed. Off the head of Trial Island the new-rich swing by in their sleek cabin cruisers and almost drown me in their wash. The commercial fishboats chug along, kicking up a wake, and drench me as their waves lip over the side.

The CPR steamers head right at me in an unseemly game of "Chicken," and I have to get out of the way.

This does nothing for my ego. So I want a hat just like Admiral Honorable Sir Reginald, e-hyphen-t-hyphen-c.

I want so much gold braid on the peak of it that my head hangs forward on a bent neck. And I want those people with larger craft—though not necessarily better—to show me the respect to which I could so easily become accustomed.

I NEED A HAT

I have taken this up with certain navy types in our office. They have made peculiar noises about K.R. and A.L. which is probably a combined radio and TV station, though I don't quite see the point.

But they agree that with enough egg-yolk on my hat, I might be impressive. They recognize, too, my right to some protection against heavy wash from passing vessels and tell me the big swells can be dangerous when they hit the tide.

For that reason, says the best informed naval source in our office, I ought to have two appendages to my proposed hat. They should be two battery-operated lights, one producing three brief flashes, the other three long flashes alternately.

With that I'm informed, I'd be perfectly safe among gentlemen of the sea. Maybe they're right, but I didn't notice any lights on Sir Reginald's hat, though everything else was there.

Maybe I'll compromise. The Y kids are going to Kelowna next week. Perhaps one of them will bring me back a regatta cap. It'll have a peak big enough to carry all the gold braid and respect I can afford. But don't think it will make me snobbish. Just call me Horatio, boys.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By CHARLES LYNCH

They'll Miss Pearson

NEW YORK—The 12th annual session of the United Nations General Assembly opens here on Sept. 17, and it will be a session of unusual interest for Canada since it will mark the first time that the Canadian delegation has been appointed by other than a Liberal government.

The Liberals were in power when Canada became a charter member of the U.N. and their policies and philosophies have of course dominated every delegation that Canada has ever sent here. In a very special way, Canada's UN record became identified with Mr. Lester B. Pearson—in his role of advisor when he was a career diplomat with the department of external affairs, and then in his role as external affairs minister.

He was president of the General Assembly for one session, and was a leading candidate for the office of Secretary General of the U.N. in 1953, being barred from that office only by the veto of the Soviet Union. He has often been a leading figure in UN debates, and his counsel was sought on many occasions by other delegations and by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld, even on questions in which Canada had no direct interest. Because of this fact Canada often played a role in UN affairs that was much broader than her own involvements, or her rank as a world power, might indicate.

At this writing, and before knowing what manner of delegation Prime Minister John Diefenbaker will decide to send here for the 12th assembly, it seems unlikely that Canada will seek as prominent a role as she has played in the past. Whoever heads the delegation is unlikely to be sought after for his inside knowledge of world affairs or his personal acquaintance with leading statesmen, as was Mr. Pearson. Those kind of contacts, if they come at all, take a long time to develop, and Mr. Pearson had been a specialist in the field for 30 years.

In any case, it remains to be demonstrated that the Progressive Conservative government desires to give the UN as important a role in Canadian external policy as the Liberals did. At the height of the Suez crisis last November, with the United Kingdom and the United States poles apart on policy, Canada placed all her emphasis on the United Nations, by passing the alternatives of direct negotiations, or Commonwealth or NATO channels.

What may happen under the Progressive Conservatives is that Canada will be content to play an adequate rather than a leading role here—unless, of course, events conspire to force her into the limelight as happened last November. After those events, even the Liberals are believed to have felt that Canada had had quite enough of the center of the stage, and in the latter part of the 11th Assembly there was a disposition on the part of the Canadian delegation to withdraw into the shadows. In fact, when Mr. Pearson was not personally in attendance here, members of the Canadian delegation became so modest and light-footed that it sometimes appeared Canada had silently stolen away.

The sort of agenda that is shaping up for the 12th General Assembly should enable the Canadian delegation to adhere to a secondary role, if that is felt to be desirable. Barring a flare-up in the Middle East or some other part of the world, the major items on the agenda are likely to be disarmament, Algeria, Cyprus, Kashmir, the status of Communist China, and a proposal to review the United Nations charter. All are hardy perennials, although all are somewhat more urgent than ever before—and more likely to produce interesting debates. But there is no call for Canada to take the lead on any of these subjects, unless she wants to for some special reason.

Canada seems almost certain to become a member of the Security Council at the end of the year, but this body has diminished in prestige and significance since Canada was last a member in 1948-49, and its sessions have recently consisted largely of futile attempts to do something about the Kashmir dispute between India and Pakistan.

Foreign Affairs Post 'Concern' for John D.

OTTAWA (BUP)—Veteran of negotiation with a goal of a true European system unhampered by existing barricades between East and West.

If eastern and western diplomats are approaching the point where they will seek a mutually agreeable European plan, observers here recognize that a long series of top-level international conferences will be involved. The general view is that their duration will be so long that participants will find it impractical to add to their burdens as prime minister.

But since that statement significant developments have taken place in top-level world diplomacy. Russian overtures for disarmament and an assurance of peace have taken a Fulton or upon former Ontario brighter turn. The long post-war diplomatic stalemate shows promise of giving way to an era of negotiation with a goal of a true European system unhampered by existing barricades between East and West. Bennett 'Proud' BCHIS Money-Losing Proposition

At least one provincial government service is losing money, and Premier Bennett is proud of it.

The premier marshalled facts and figures Thursday to show that the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service is an unprofitable operation.

He was put in the unique position by Hospital Union leader Bill Black, who claimed the government was profiteering from BCHIS and keeping money that should be turned over to the hospitals.

Not so, said the premier. Since the fiscal year 1948-49, when BCHIS was started, payments to hospitals total $196,884,000.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Saanich police court Thursday:

Pamela A. Butcher, 4196 Wilkinson, and Frank James Graf, Alberni, $35 each, and Feliz Mikosh, 3963 Old West Road, $35 and one-month licence suspension except for business purposes, for careless driving.

Wilma Pittendreich, 3400 Ralston, $35 for careless driving and $25 for driving without a licence.

Hazel Denham, 4251 Blenkinsop, and Florence Creed, 998 Tulip, $25 each for driving without a licence.

Richard McB. McIntosh, Sidney, $30 for speeding over 50.

William de Vries, 924 Market, and Colin J. King, 742 Cordova Bay, $25 each for speeding over 30.

James Lang Grieve, 1084 Mari-gold, $25 for driving unaccompanied by an adult while a learner.

Plant Madonna Lily Soon Now

Early August, while many of the loveliest lilies are blooming in our gardens, is the time to plant the bulbs of Lilium candidum—the madonna lily which flowers during June.

This particular lily has a short period of dormancy, and commences its growth during the fall, which necessitates making any move as soon as possible.

The bulbs require lifting and dividing only when they cease giving a satisfactory display, such as thin, weak stems with but one or two blooms each.

If a new planting of L. candidum is desired, try first to get the bulbs from local dealers or growers. They deteriorate if out of the ground for long, the scales becoming soft and flabby, and may even have to be removed.

The site chosen for these lilies may be in full sun, but keep the soil on the lean side, if humus is required to improve drainage, let it be of a dry, strawy texture. Sharp and well mixed into the soil is an advantage also.

When planting, care must be taken to have not more than two inches of soil above the bulbs. This species of lily is base rooting, and will push itself upwards gradually if planted too deep. But in the mean time, few, if any, flowers will be produced.

During September the new growth of green leaves will be apparent, in the form of a basal rosette. This growth remains green all winter, feeding the bulb until a central spike begins to emerge in spring.

When this occurs, the basal leaves should immediately be neatly removed and burned. L. candidum is susceptible to a fungus disease, the spores of which frequently overwinter on the leaves. Prompt removal after their use is served will prevent the probability of spreading the disease to other lilies and to tulips.

POINTING OUT "horseshoes for luck" on the roulette wheel at Victoria Gyro's Hole-in-One Carnival Thursday night was Gyro wheel-whirler Bill Heaney. He

ONE BARELY MISSED

Gyros Raise Prize Of Hole-in-One Play

Gyros, starved for aces after two nights of their annual Hole-in-One Carnival at Central Junior High School, have upped the prize to $100 for the first golfer to sink his tee shot.

Offer is only good for the first ace. Each succeeding one-shot will net the original $50 prize.

On Thursday, while no one managed to hit the pin, Dan Richardson, 3199 Service, came within a heart-breaking half-inch of completing the feat.

For the closest thing to a hole-in-one in two nights of teeing off, Richardson won $15.

Second best shot, $2.25 inches from the hole, came from the club of Martin Cave, 2278 Pacific. He won $10.

Third prize of $5 went to William Dron, 2744 Bowker, who drove the ball within 10½ inches of the hole.

D. Parks, 1221 Fort, won the grocery hamper.

Blessed with balmy weather, the carnival has attracted more than 1,500 persons in the past two nights.

It continues tonight and Saturday at Central Junior High School.

All proceeds will go to Gyro charities and development of Gyro Park at Cadboro Bay.

ACCOMMODATING THUGS NABBED

MIAMI (AP)—Two holdup men agree with restaurant manager Ulys Brogan it would be a shame to get his clothes dirty by lying on the floor, as they had ordered.

The bandits carefully spread paper napkins on the floor. Brogan stretched out. Meanwhile the cook, Anthony Nelson, 65, slipped away and telephoned police.

Officers nabbed two men emerging from the restaurant early Sunday and booked them for investigation of armed robbery.

Polish Pilot Scores Bull's Eye Landing Glider in Midst of Cows

LANDBOURNE, Eng. (UP)—Ben Lastowski, 44, a former Polish pilot, put his red-painted glider down in the middle of a herd of cows and spent the next two hours fighting them off.

Lastowski, who lives in London and was a Polish Free Forces parachutist during the war, was taking part in Britain's national gliding championships.

The herd, led by a big bull, was grazing peacefully when he set down in the middle of the pasture. Then the bull saw the color of the plane and charged.

The cows stared vacantly for a few minutes, slowly surrounded the glider and began to move in.

Lastowski tried to beat them off with a cushion. He waved and shouted "I'll start to lose my voice." He dragged the glider to the edge of the field while flicking away at the cows. Then he went for help.

When he returned the cows were contentedly licking the glider.

"I just sat down and waited for the cows to go home," he said.

His retrieving crew gave the glider a thorough washdown and said it wasn't damaged.

Teenagers Jailed For Killing Negro

CHICAGO (AP)—Five white teenagers charged with murder in the hammer slaying of a 17-year-old Negro received prison terms Thursday ranging from 14 to 20 years. Two others were granted new trials.

The youths were among 15 originally named in an indictment as the slayers of Alvin Palmer, struck down March 11 as he stood at a south side corner waiting for a bus.

One of the pack, Joseph Schwartz, 18, admitted wielding the hammer and earlier received a 30-year prison sentence.

Labor Collusion Between Unions, Firms Charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate rackets investigating committee developed testimony today that hoodlum-controlled labor unions and employers have conspired to exploit nearly 1,000,000 Puerto Rican and Negro workers in New York City.

John McNiff, executive secretary of the Association of Catholic Trade Unionists, said "the worst evil of all in the trade union picture today is collusion between crooked management and crooked unionism."

McNiff named 22 New York local unions which he said cooperate with companies to "exploit Puerto Rican workers and other unskilled or semi-skilled workers in the metropolitan New York area." He said this is only a partial list.

LOW RATES

He said the unions in cooperation with firms enter into contracts which are often only verbal agreements and often fix wages at the $10 a week federal minimum wage for a 40-hour week, or rates only slightly above that figure.

A standard practice, McNiff said, even among "the more respected industrial unions in New York" is to refuse to give workers copies of the contract that are put in writing. Thus, he said, the workers seldom know even the minimum benefits to which they are entitled.

Chairman John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) said in advance it would be shown that "sweetheart contracts" between the unions and employers gave the workers only the legal minimum wage.

Today's hearings are a new phase of the committee's investigation into New York area unions dominated by labor racketeer Johnny Dio, described as a close friend of James R. Hoffa, teamsters' union boss.

Previous testimony has brought out that Dio got the unions started as part of the old AFL United Auto Workers' Union, but since has switched them into the teamsters' union.

JAMES B. HOFFA

Giant Union For Transport Hoffa's Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Detroit teamster chief James R. Hoffa advocates a giant union of United States transportation unions—land, sea and air—he said here Thursday.

Hoffa said he is confident he will be elected teamsters' union president next month to succeed Dave Beck. If he is, he says he will work for a merger of truck drivers, longshoremen, railroad and steamship employees and warehousemen into a giant transport union within the AFL-CIO framework.

Teamsters' Union leaders are meeting here to review the union's constitution.

Water Pipe Became Busy Poltergeist

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—Things have become rather quiet around the Wilkinson home lately. The vacuum cleaner doesn't stroll around the house these nights.

In fact, a lot of weird things went on before C. A. Wilkinson dug up and disconnected a water pipe beside his frame house and removed the ground wire on the electrical lines. It was not a poltergeist at all.

Things were really jumping before Wilkinson put a stop to them.

Electric plugs popped out of wall sockets with such force the prongs were twisted. Light bulbs leaped from their sockets.

A new $1,300 electric organ which wasn't even plugged in, to check and found the footloose sweeper sitting on the bed.

Wilkinson said he thought it had something to do with a magnetic field.

The electric vacuum often crept through the house, moving apparently under its own power. Mrs. Wilkinson said one night her daughter burst into her room and complained the sweeper was crawling across her stomach.

Mrs. Wilkinson said she went to check and found the foot-loose sweeper sitting on the bed.

Wilkinson said he thought it had something to do with a magnetic field.

French Boost Wage Rates

PARIS (Reuters)—The government today raised the minimum wage 5½ per cent to meet the increased cost of living. Workers now must be paid at least 133 francs about 37 cents an hour. The old minimum was 126 francs about 36 cents. The minimum wage is pegged to the official cost of living index, which rose in July.

Mr. Brissenden said the strikers, who left their jobs March 11, have been sent letters offering them a "last chance" to return to their jobs.

"If they haven't reported to work by Friday-night they will be taken off the payroll lists."

Roger Bedard, spokesman for the United Steelworkers of America (CLC), said the strikers "are not worried at all." He said the move is "just one of a series of threats the company has been making all along."

The letters were sent "in order to plan the hiring of new men," Mr. Brissenden said. "But under no circumstances will we lay off employees presently working to replace them—with returning strikers."

He said 398 employees have

Biggest Swim Field Set for Strait Plunge

Biggest field of swim marathoners ever to sign up for a mass attack on Juan de Fuca Strait joked and banttered in their final briefing Thursday night before their $10,000 plunge Sunday.

AMY HILAND
Long Beach, Calif.

Eighteen men and women entered in Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce second annual professional long distance swim from Victoria to Port Angeles met swim officials in Chamber of Commerce board room.

The swim, open to men and women, has attracted amateurs and professionals from Greece, both coasts of the U.S. and Canada's west coast.

Crowded into the Chamber board room, the six women and 12 men, with coaches, managers and boatmen, heard rules and regulations outlined for the last time prior to the start at 12 noon Sunday, weather permitting.

WIND FORECAST

Tentative long-range forecast points to fair but windy weather.

At stake is a $5,000 first prize for a completed swim, or $2,500 to the swimmer covering the farthest, incomplete distance; $2,500 for second, or $1,250 incomplete; $1,500 third, or $750 incomplete; and $1,000 fourth, or $500 incomplete.

In the case of an incomplete swim, the remaining $5,000 prize money will be carried over to next year's mass marathon.

Starting point is Horseshoe Bay, below Beacon Hill, and the finish can be anywhere on the Washington shore within five miles either side of the tip of Ediz Hook at Port Angeles.

Swimmers may be accompanied by seaworthy, power craft, but no power will be allowed on coach dinghies in the immediate vicinity of swimmers.

A member of the Jaycee swim committee will be positioned aboard each swimmer's accompanying launch or dinghy.

UP TO REFEREES

Final decision on whether the marathon is officially on, or whether it should be called for any reason of tides or weather, will be up to referees Capt. Ellice Cavin, rated among the best towboat skippers on the coast and guide for Marilyn Bell's 1956 Strait crossing, and Lt. George Colwill, RCN deep-sea diver.

The tug Island Champion, with Capt. Cavin aboard, will lead the marathon and help plot positions of all swimmers by radar. A navy diving tender, also radar-equipped, will keep tabs on marathoners and ward off pleasure cruisers venturing too close for safety.

By leaving Victoria at noon daylight saving time the flotilla expects to have the advantage of the last two hours of flood tide, six hours of ebb and the remaining time of flood tide to boot swimmers into Ediz Hook.

There will be three physicians in attendance in the flotilla and hot baths will be ready to set up at short notice aboard the lead tug. A resuscitator also will be available aboard the navigating vessel.

Two red flares fired from the lead tug will indicate the swim is cancelled and two green flares will mean the swim is complete and all participants are out of the water.

Contestants completing the 18.3 mile distance must return to their boats immediately and begin heading for Victoria.

In interests of safety, there will be no liquor permitted in any accompanying boat. Any drinking of liquor will disqualify the swimmer.

ADS TO SELL THROUGH SMELL

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In the not-too-distant future your favorite newspaper may not only read well but smell good, too.

The Printing Industries Association of Los Angeles says it now is possible to print food ads that smell like fried chicken and wedding announcements that have the scent of orange blossoms.

The organization predicts that "sell through smell" may soon be the advertising watchword.

The PIA said Thursday that more than 120 distinct aromas now can be incorporated in modern printing procedures.

Movie Greats Subpoenaed As Spicy Libel Trial Opens

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A sensational trial promising to be the spiciest in recent history opened today with the prospect that the veil might be ripped off the lives of the movie gods and goddesses.

Fred and Marjorie Meade, operators of Hollywood Research, Inc., reported to be the on the west coast for Confidential and Whisper magazines, went on trial in superior court on charges of conspiracy to publish libelous and obscene matter about film celebrities.

Defence attorneys claimed they have subpoenaed more than 100 top movie stars and personalities to ask them under oath if spicy scandal stories in the magazines were "true."

Defence Attorney Arthur J. Crowley planned to use "truth as a defence" against the libel charges. However, Asst. Atty. Gen. Clarence Linn, the state's lawyer in the legal battle, said the defendants also will have to prove the sensational stories were published "in the public interest."

Several stars and their attorneys sought in vain to induce their doctors to claim the celebrities were too ill to appear.

"We have had several calls about that but naturally it would be unethical for a doctor to make such a claim," one prominent physician said.

The state concentrated its case on articles involving Maureen O'Hara, Dorothy Dandridge, Robert Mitchum, Dick Powell, Corinne Calvet, Mae West, John Carroll and Mark Stevens. The prosecution also charged that stories involving Frank Sinatra and Allan Dale were lewd and obscene. Among the stars reported to have been subpoenaed by the defence so far were Gary Cooper, Walter Pidgeon, Miss Calvet, Scott Brady, Sonny Tufts, Buddy Baer, Lana Turner and Tab Hunter.

Khrushchev 'Slapped'

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A group of 15 British youth festival delegates touring the Kremlin Thursday ran into Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev as he came out of a government building. They chatted and took snapshots for 10 minutes. One British delegate slapped Khrushchev on the back and the Soviet leader grinned broadly.

Army Still Needs Atom Know-How

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP)—The first Canadian infantry division withdrew unscathed from a mock atomic battlefield here Thursday but Maj. Gen. E. C. Plow said the army still has a lot to learn about the handling of nuclear missiles.

"The matter of safety must be investigated further," said Gen. Plow, chief of the army's Eastern Command and exercise director. "We can't risk the life of one of our soldiers . . . we must have a better method of calling for atomic fire on target."

Maj. Gen. John Rockingham, soon to leave his post as commander of the first division to take command of Western Canada forces, was obviously proud of his 10,000 men who went through the week-long manoeuvres without a major casualty for the first time since annual exercises were begun here three years ago.

MINOR INJURIES

Some men suffered minor injuries in a parachute jump during one phase of the exercise and later a scout car went off the road.

The exercise marked the first time that the army tried out a new defensive concept, designed for atomic war. It places the main defensive area 15 miles back of a lightly defended front line.

Fog and dust were so thick in the latter part of the exercise searchlights and truck headlights were practically useless.

Gen. Plow said the army wants a new armored personnel carrier. In addition, "we never seem to get enough range with our wireless sets." And problems of collecting and organizing intelligence reports will also be studied.

Carpenters At Kitimat On Strike

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—A strike of 400 carpenters has tied up construction here.

The men, members of Local 1081 of the Carpenters' Union, went on strike at 6 a.m. Thursday and set up picket lines.

Don Osborne of the Kitimat Builders' Exchange said the strike has stopped construction on the Aluminum Company of Canada's smelter townsite and also residential buildings.

The strike went on after the men rejected a wage offer. The exchange had offered $2.44 an hour retroactive to April 1, a raise to $2.51 July 28, and a further raise to $2.68, April 1, 1958. Carpenters are asking a wage of $2.55 an hour, recommended by a conciliation board but rejected by the builders' exchange. Present wage is $2.28.

The exchange met Thursday but no further talks with the union are planned, Mr. Osborne said.

In a supervised strike vote employees of six construction companies voted for a strike and employees of three voted against. The three companies whose men voted not to strike employ eight men altogether.

Police Active During June

Property valued at $4,722 was reported stolen in Victoria in June of which $1,741 was recovered. Police Chief John Blackstock told the Victoria Police Commission Wednesday.

In his monthly report, he noted June had seen 355 patrol wagon runs; 33 juvenile charges laid; 51 violations under the criminal code which included one suicide attempt and three of impaired driving.

Motor vehicle infractions totalled 161 and resulted in $2,780 in fines. Municipal infractions related to driving totalled 2,370 and brought a police revenue of $4,553.

In all, there were 3,674 cases disposed of in police court during the month.

Joe's Troops In Retreat; Mounties Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Add three Vancouver wins to three San Francisco losses and what do you get? Nightmares maybe—if you happen to be Joe Gordon, Seattle's manager.

Gordon's troops fell to Hollywood, 3-1, Thursday, for their third defeat of the week, while the Mounties beat San Diego, 7-4, Thursday night for their third straight win. Vancouver is now in second place, four games behind the Seals and two percentage points ahead of Hollywood.

One-man gang Steve Bilko scored all of Los Angeles' runs, but Seattle did him four better, as the Rainiers beat the Angels, 7-3.

PRIVATE FEUD

Sacramento and Portland continued their private battle for the league cellar, trading wins in a double-header. The Solons won the opener, 10-2, and the Beavers' breaking Sacramento pitcher Joe Stanka's string of 22 scoreless innings, took the nightcap, 4-1.

Leo Rodriguez drove in two of Hollywood's three runs to help pitcher Ben Wade notch his seventh win of the season at the expense of Seals' boy wonder, Bill Prout, whose record is now 3-3.

Hurder Don Ferrarese held San Diego to four hits in leading the Vancouver win.

Bilko smashed his 34th home run in the Angels' losing cause. His 400-foot clout over Wrigley Field's center-field screen pulled him to within five home runs of his 1956 pace. Seattle's Ray Orteig, Hal Bevan and Joe Taylor also smashed homers.

HOMER SPURGE

Sacramento unloaded three homers, a triple and a double in winning the first half of the double-header with Portland. Lyle Olsen, Ed White and Jim Greengrass homered. Portland's win in the second game was highlighted by strikeouts as the Beavers' John Carmichael fanned seven and Stanka nine in the seven-inning game.

Taylor, second in the league home-run derby with 22 was bought Thursday by the Cincinnati Redlegs from Seattle for what Redleg general manager Gabo Paul said was a "very large sum of cash" and a player to be optioned for Taylor, who will report to Cincinnati immediately.

Minor Baseball Titles To Jaycees, Kinsmen

Playoff champions were declared in a pair of minor leagues Thursday night and a third wound up its schedule as baseball among the younger set draws to a fast close in Victoria.

Mawson-Gage dropped a 5-2 decision and the Carnarvon Pony League pennant to Jaycees at Carnarvon Park, even though losing pitcher Mike Harcourt came up with a five-hit performance.

ERRORS HURT

Four errors caused all the trouble as the winners pushed over two runs in each of the second and third innings and a single in the fourth.

Kinsmen won the American Little League sudden-death playoff final against Lions when Dennis Thompson threw a five-hitter for the 63 win at Jaycee Park.

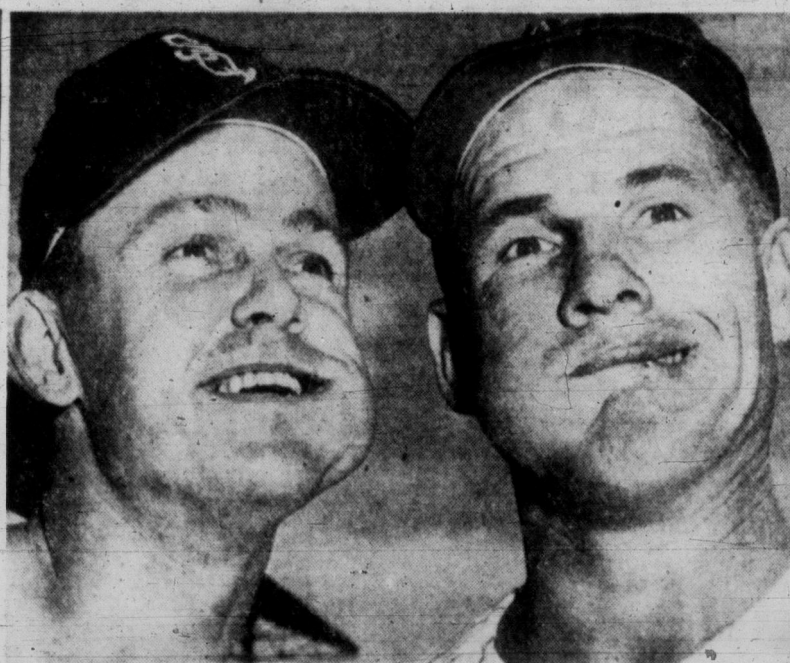

In the final game of the Fairfield Little League Thursday, Public Services blasted ANAF Vets 14-4 to end up solidly in second place in the league, one game behind Britannia.

Totems moved to within one victory of the James Bay Little League crown with a 3-0 shut-out of Merchants and Victoria Orphans defeated the Colt

Rough Water Thwarts Campbell's Second Try

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP)—Choppy water today again thwarted speed king Donald Campbell's attempt to break his world record on water in his jet-powered Bluebird II.

This disappointment means that Campbell will not make a new try at bettering the record 225.36 miles an hour until at least mid-August. The two official timers were leaving today for the Gold Cup races at Seattle and will not return until Aug. 16.

MAJORS' CHEWING CHAMPS

Famous around the American League for the king-sized wads of tobacco they tote around in their cheeks are diminutive Nellie Fox of Chicago and Washington's wiry Rocky Bridges.

Nellie, using left-jaw grip, appears to have edge over Bridges, an exponent of the right-jaw hold, as the infielders meet before Thursday's game at Washington. (AP Wirephoto.)

ATTACK VARIED

Als, prepping for their fourth straight Big Four championship, displayed a diversified attack, picking up four touchdowns on the ground and two off long passes by quarterback Sam Etcheverry. Stamps were hobbled for the first three quarters as the Montreal backfield, led by newcomer Joel Wells, piled up a 26-0 lead.

Alouette majors were scored by Wells, end Hal Patterson, fullback Pat Abruzzi, end Harry Babcock, Charlie Baillie and Hugh Sampson. Veteran Al Polard, ex-Philadelphia Eagle and B.C. Lion fullback, and rookie import Jim Morse from Notre Dame handled the Calgary scoring.

At Winnipeg, Canadian-born halfback Tommy Grant scored two majors and Cookie Gilchrist put on a dazzling display of footwork before the 11,200 fans scampering 83 yards for the final Hamilton touchdown after recovering a Bomber fumble.

Bombers were no match for the Big Four club, operating under deceptive Bernie Faloney, who quarterbacked the Edmonton Eskimos to their first Grey Cup win in 1954.

She Swims, But Amy Also Likes Hockey

Everybody is seemingly interested in seeing hockey stay in Victoria. Positive proof is provided by the latest applications for shares accepted by drive manager Colin Kilburn.

Miss Amy Hiland of Long Beach, Calif., one of the 18 contestants in the Jaycee-sponsored Juan de Fuca Strait Swim Sunday, became a prospective shareholder in the proposed club when she purchased her shares Thursday.

Kilburn states that if all of the people with application forms in their possession would fill them out and send them in to the office at 817 Fort Street, the $3,500 left to gather would be realized.

The office will be open all day Saturday for share purchasers. Phone number is 2-2322.

Spirit of St. Louis Takes Cards to Top

Records, Braves Passed as Musial Cuts Loose Again

By United Press

Stan Musial passed Ty Cobb and the St. Louis Cardinals entered into the spirit of the occasion by passing Milwaukee to take over the National League lead for the first time since July 17.

All this passing was accomplished when the Cardinals defeated the Giants, 8-0, Thursday night to take over first place by two percentage points over the idle Braves.

The 36-year-old Musial supplied most of the impetus with a perfect night at the plate that included a pair of two-run homers and two singles.

Stan the Man passed Cobb with his second homer of the game in the sixth inning. The blow, his 24th circuit of the season, was the 1,140th extra base hit of his career and put him in third place ahead of the Georgia peach in that department.

Only Babe Ruth, with 1,356 extra base hits, and Lou Gehrig, with 1,190, are ahead of Musial. He undoubtedly will pass Gehrig before he is through and he has an outside chance of catching the Babe.

Sam Jones took care of the pitching for the Cardinals, who won their sixth straight, when he limited the Giants to six hits in registering his ninth victory.

In the only other National League game scheduled, Cincinnati nipped Philadelphia, 4-3, and Brooklyn mauled Chicago, 12-3.

Detroit defeated Boston, 7-5, and Washington beat the White Sox, 5-4, in the only two American League games scheduled.

The Redjacks won their game from the Phillies with a three-run rally in the eighth inning. Ed Bailey capped the rally with a sacrifice fly that brought in Wally Post from third base with the winning run.

Gil Hodges of the Dodgers set a National League record with the 13th grand slam homer of his career as Brooklyn rapped out 18 hits and took advantage of six Cub errors. Hodges' grand slam wallop off Dick Littlefield enabled him to pass Rogers Hornsby and Ralph Kiner, who held the previous record of 12 grand slam homers.

Others in the round-off-four are W. Bennett and J. Bonnett of New Westminster; T. Campbell and W. Sherriff of Seattle, and Smith and Rickson of Courtenay.

Also to be played Saturday are the finals of the men's singles in which Archie Findlay of Victoria will meet Charlie Hastings of Canadian Pacific. It is assured that the W. H. Cullin Trophy, won last year by Art Ashford of Burnside, will remain in Victoria.

IN TWO FINALS

Mrs. Payton and Mrs. C. Donevan of Vancouver Terminal will meet Mrs. J. Berry and Mrs. J. H. Galbraith of Vancouver Hastings for the W. & J. Villon Trophy, won last year by Mrs. A. W. Stewart and Mrs. A. Dickie of Burnside.

But they didn't win easily.

Mrs. Payton and Mrs. C. Donevan, who is also in Saturday's singles final, went down to the last end before defeating Mrs. K. Schmelz and Mrs. B. Jenkins of Victoria West, 13-11.

In the other semi-final, Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Galbraith, a sister team, downed Mrs. W. Bennett and Mrs. W. Chambers of New Westminster, 16-12.

In the men's doubles play, Victoria Duos also had their troubles, and it will be two visiting combinations who play off for the F. S. Martin Cup, emblematic of doubles supremacy.

In the semi-finals J. Cameron and H. Jones of Seattle; W. G. Murray and A. Rea of Grandview; Granding and Digney of Dunbar; and Woodcock and Frew of West Point Grey moved into today's semi-finals to decide Saturday's finalists.

JOEL MAKE A SPEECH? NOT EVEN FOR £5,000!

GOODWOOD, Eng. (AP)—Millionaire racehorse owner Jim Joel of the famous diamond family prefers to remain speechless.

His two-year-old colt, Promulgation, won a race at Goodwood Wednesday and it immediately made him one of the favorites for the Gimcrack Stakes at York later this month.

But, although the Gimcrack is worth £5,000 to the winner, Joel scratched the colt because by tradition the winning owner must make a speech at the Gimcrack dinner.

"I am no speaker and it would embarrass me if I won the race and had to make the famous Gimcrack speech."

ALL-AMERICAN OPEN

Porky Out Front, But Look Behind!

CHICAGO (UP)—Ed "Porky" Oliver, only nine times a winner in 17 years of pro golf, was a first-round frontrunner in Tam O'Shanter's All-American Open today. But 58 challengers were in a threatening position within six strokes.

Oliver, 40, hit every green Thursday and posted 12 pars and six birdies for a 66 total on the par 72, 6,915-yard course. It was his second best round in 11 years in the event, held annually on the same links.

But the performance put him only one stroke ahead of 26-year-old Billy Casper Jr., who was a late finisher with a 67. Unlike Oliver, Casper went over par twice on his round, missing a green on each occasion. He also missed the fairway three times.

SOLID SCORING

Roughly one third of the field of 161 men pros was in striking distance. Veteran Sam Snead, Shelley Mayfield, Tommy Bolt, and a former U.S. national junior champion, Gay Brewer, were only one stroke behind Casper at 68. Eight more players posted 69's. There were nine players matched at 70 and 71, for a total of 38 par-breakers for the first 48 holes. Twenty-one players equaled par.

Par suffered at the hands of the women, too, and the leading women pros, Beverly Hanson, Indira, Calif., and Fay Crocker, Uruguay, each posted a five-under 71. They were three strokes ahead of three challengers, Kathy Cornelius, Jo Ann Prentice and Jacqueline Pung, but three other women pros also bettered par with 75's.

The leading woman amateur, young Clifford Ann Creed, also with a 75 for a four stroke lead on the field. The leading men amateurs, Howard Everett and Bob Pratt, bettered par by one stroke, too, with 71's for a two-stroke margin.

CROSBY EXPANDS

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA)—The Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur will be expanded to include a 72-hole golf tournament next Jan. 9-12. The broadcasting and film rights swell the prize money to $40,000.

Others in the round-off-four are W. Bennett and J. Bonnett of New Westminster; T. Campbell and W. Sherriff of Seattle, and Smith and Rickson of Courtenay.

Also to be played Saturday are the finals of the men's singles in which Archie Findlay of Victoria will meet Charlie Hastings of Canadian Pacific. It is assured that the W. H. Cullin Trophy, won last year by Art Ashford of Burnside, will remain in Victoria.

Mrs. Payton and Mrs. C. Donevan, who is also in Saturday's singles final, went down to the last end before defeating Mrs. K. Schmelz and Mrs. B. Jenkins of Victoria West, 13-11.

In the other semi-final, Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Galbraith, a sister team, downed Mrs. W. Bennett and Mrs. W. Chambers of New Westminster, 16-12.

In the men's doubles play, Victoria Duos also had their troubles, and it will be two visiting combinations who play off for the F. S. Martin Cup, emblematic of doubles supremacy.

In the semi-finals J. Cameron and H. Jones of Seattle; W. G. Murray and A. Rea of Grandview; Granding and Digney of Dunbar; and Woodcock and Frew of West Point Grey moved into today's semi-finals to decide Saturday's finalists.

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

In the fleeting second before the charging Cape buffalo piled into the dirt, George Wurzbarger was closer to destruction than at any other time in more than 25 years of hunting.

That was in 1948, the year he retired from the real-estate business to satisfy a yen for globe-trotting and big-game hunting and was leisurely enjoying a six-month African safari.

He had stalked the big bull late the previous afternoon and made what he admits was a bad shot that smashed the buffalo's right foreleg.

Unable to catch up with the animal before darkness set in, he followed the unwritten law of big-game hunting—that a dangerous animal, once wounded, must be trailed and killed if humanly possible—and returned to the trail at daybreak.

Almost five miles later, the bull burst out of a thicket, head lowered in the unwavering charge that is the trademark of the Cape buffalo.

It was close. When Wurzbarger and his guide finally stopped the bull, George could have reached out and touched it with the barrel of his 500 rifle.

Although he can recall many other exciting moments among his hunting experiences in Europe, Africa, Mexico, Canada and the United States, the 58-year-old sportsman prefers to talk about his work with a camera, which has brought him his greatest satisfaction and his greatest fame.

President last year of the Adventures Club—an exclusive fraternity limited to 200 men who have "left the beaten trails and faced danger in search of the unusual"—he has appeared several times on the "I Search for Adventure" television series and has also had many of his other films accepted for television.

Although British Columbia has provided him with many of his fondest shooting memories, it is photography, adopted as a hobby nine years ago, which has brought him back to the province.

Whether he is operating with a rifle or a camera, George Wurzbarger leads a globe-trotting life that would make almost any man envious.

Right now he is working on a B.C. film for the adventure series. He became one of the world's newest lacrosse fans while taking shots of the game at Memorial Arena Wednesday night. Yesterday Wurzbarger and his wife were out with Jimmy Creed chasing Saanich Inlet salmon. Today they are on their way to Campbell River and they'll be in Banff in a few weeks after meandering through the B.C. interior.

The Californian can still remember the first of his five hunting trips in B.C., when he packed into country north of Quesnel in 1924, when a climb after a mountain goat above Mitchell Lake "almost killed me," and he counted 36 grizzlies in 30 days.

"British Columbia is the best place in North America to collect big game," he says. "It is more rugged than African hunting, but your grizzly and mountain sheep are wonderful game animals."

However, despite heat and the threat of diseases, such as the one that once put him on his back for three months, Africa will always be the choice for the best kind of hunting.

Buffalo Most Dangerous to Hunt

George goes along with most African hunters and names the Cape buffalo as the most dangerous game although he has a world of respect for the elephant, rhino and leopard. He has found the elephant the most interesting animal to hunt.

Wurzbarger finds it difficult to believe that cougars are still almost ignored by sportsmen on Vancouver Island, yet he hopes it is condition that won't change although he considers the mountain lion one of the continent's better trophies.

Usually travelling with Jack Butler, the famed 73-year-old Wyoming lion hunter who has over 1,000 of the big cats to his credit, Wurzbarger has downed 12 cougars.

"But no more," he says. "Because of heavy hunting by professional hunters and sportsmen, I feel the mountain lion is doomed to extinction in the United States unless some restrictions are eventually imposed."

His attitude toward mountain lions also appears directed to most other animals. He is shooting more film and fewer bullets every year and the title of his last TV adventure film was "I Traded My Rifle for a Camera."

Yet, his guns are not all destined to gather dust. At lunch yesterday he was making plans to obtain one of the permits which will allow hunters to trim 30,000 animals from Wyoming's herd of 150,000 antelope this fall.

"I still like to hunt," he smiled.

FOURTH BERTH ON GOLF TEAM TAKEN BY WILLEY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ron Willey of Vancouver's Fraserview Golf Course Thursday became the fourth member of British Columbia's Willingdon Cup team when he won a special playoff.

Willey came home with a one-under-par score of 71, four strokes better than Johnny Johnson of Marine Drive course, in the 18-hole medal playoff. The two tied Sunday in a 36-hole match with four other golfers to select the final B.C. cup player.

Other members of the team are Bob Kidd, Doug Bajus and Bert Ticehurst. They will travel to St. Charles, Winnipeg, Aug. 17 for the national championship.

IN LADIES' GOLF

Darling, Just 19, A Party-Wrecker

MONTREAL (CP)—Marlene Stewart Streit, grim little champion of champions, today found herself in danger of losing a golfing title she has won six years in a row.

This came about because a winsome blonde from Montreal gave an unmerciful beating to the Royal Montreal course Thursday and grabbed a four-stroke lead in the first round of the Canadian Ladies' 54 hole close championship.

Judy Darling, 19 years old and a seven-foot five, was the wrecker of the first round party. In the process of firing a sizzling 73—four strokes under par—she was the only woman's par and only one above men's—Judy not only gave a shocking setback to Marlene but threatened to run away from the field of 100 before the tournament scarcely got started.

There was nothing radically wrong with the game of Marlene, pride of Fonthill, Ont., nor with that of four other girls who matched Marlene's par 77. Marlene, who has international victories, to her credit, now shares the runner-up spot at 77 with Mary Ellen Driscoll of Saint John N.B., Janet MacWha of suburban St. Lambert, Que., Donna Patton of Winnipeg and Rae Milligan of Calgary.

Judy's 73 also gave Quebec's four member team a one-stroke margin, at 323, over defending Ontario in the interprovincial championship on a net score basis, where well bunched Ontario led with 164, followed by New Brunswick with 167, Saskatchewan and defending Quebec had 169.

Betty Stanhope, Edmonton, one of the real power hitters in the tournament, suffered from lack of control on the front nine and took a 41 but came down the back stretch in one under par 37 to finish with 78, five strokes away from Judy.

Miss Milligan's 77 led the Alberta team in the interprovincial matches with Miss Stanhope at 78 and Mary Gay closest with 81. Donna Patton's par 77 was Manitoba's best by nine strokes and Mrs. J. H. Todd, Victoria, led the British Columbia team with 86 B.C. with 351, was 10 strokes behind fourth-place Manitoba.

Not Many, But Blows Were Big

Gorge Hotel moved into a seven and one-half game lead in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League Thursday night when they out-powered Arrow Furniture 6.3 at Central Park.

All but one of the game's nine runs came as a result of home runs with Vern Evans, Stan Stewart and Gordy Jones clearing the left field fence for the winners and Norm Curran belting out the Arrow homer.

Arrow's final run, in the bottom of the ninth, came on a double by Curran and a single by Len Anderson.

Barry Jackson was credited with the Gorge win. He gave up six hits while walking three and striking out eight. On the losing end was Don Ward, who held the powerful Gorge club to five safeties along with two walks and six strikeouts.

The Toronto market continued to ramble around a lower level today during sluggish trading.

Some wide losses appeared today in a sluggish, irregular market at New York. Nonferrous metals were depressed on defence mobilizer Gordon Gray's statement that the government will soon stop buying lead and zinc for its strategic stockpile. Trans-mountain Pipe Line and Trans-Prairie Pipeline and Aluminum were off between one and two points. Gains were generally fractional.

Senior base metals were decidedly lower, led by International Nickel's 34-point loss to a recent high of $77. Most of the VANCOUVER (CP) — Grain shipments from Vancouver set a new record in the crop year which ended this week.

More than 125,000,000 bushels were shipped from the port to Europe and the Orient, compared with 115,000,000 bushels in 1953-54, the previous record year. About 50,000,000 bushels were shipped to continental Europe during the 1956-57 year.

Export totalled 8,650,000 bushels, almost double the figure for the previous year. But shipments from the remaining major B.C. grain ports were down—2,877,000 bushels from Victoria and 1,883,000 from New Westminster.

"Of these telephones 67 per cent will be in operation by June 1, 1958."

Mr. Farrell said that construction of a 12-storey building adjoining the company's headquarters in Vancouver is expected to begin this month.

BETTER DISCIPLINE

'Hot-Rodders' No U.K. Problem

By TONY DICKASON

Great Britain has no teenage driving problems. Former executive vice-chairman of the Royal Automobile Club, R. C. Williams, said here today this is because "discipline of children is better than in Canada," based on the school system.

R. C. WILLIAMS
... official of RAC

He's here until September visiting his son-in-law, Hugh Stephen, 602 Newport, head of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Williams, 64, a car driver for a half century, and a RAC member 39 years, said he'd "never come across" hot-rodgers in England.

Until recently, there had been no speed limits outside metropolitan areas. If people wanted to kill themselves with speed, official thinking seemed to be that this was entirely up to them.

But now, with cars so numerous, a clamp-down is in effect. There are low speed limit signs on country roads.

To Mr. Williams, parking meters are "an abomination," and answer to their elimination is to produce more off-street parking areas.

HEADS VIVELLA CO.

In London, where he heads the Vivella Co. Ltd., an 175-year-old textile firm, parking meter charges are "penal," he stated.

Charges are so high as time parked advances, it is smart to get moving—and this is the somewhat sinister planning by officialdom.

He suggested that funds realized from parking meters be used to finance construction of off-street parking facilities.

Mr. Williams said he had no idea why the rules of the English roads are "keep left."

Sensibly enough, English small cars are popular in England. These are cars that give about 50 miles to the gallon and a top speed of around 75 mph.

So interested have persons become in owning old cars that the RAC "will have to" set up a museum soon to display the models, he said.

Not at all apropos of cars, Mr. Williams' London office is in the home of composer George Frederick Handel. The original staircase, which creaks, was built in 1690.

Highest Wage Deal Signed By Union, Mine

TORONTO (CP)—William Longridge, secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), announced Thursday the union has signed an agreement with Consolidated Denison Mines Limited providing for the highest wage rates in the Canadian industry.

The company operates a big uranium mine near Elliot Lake in the Blind River area. The agreement—effective June 30—provides for an average immediate increase of 11 cents an hour with a reduction of hours to 40 a week from the present 48 in 14 months. There will also be an average over-all wage increase in the 14-month period exceeding 50 cents hourly.

Under the agreement journey-men tradesmen will get $2.68, miners $2.20, surface labor $1.91, and mill operators $2.44.

In addition to wage increases, the agreement provides for six paid statutory holidays, a comprehensive health and welfare plan—50 per cent paid by the company—shift differentials, effective seniority, grievance procedure and union rights.

Saanich Building Up, Other Districts Lag

Saanich continues to boom in building, but Oak Bay and Esquimalt are lagging in total construction values in the first seven months of 1957, compared with the same period in 1956.

Building in Saanich for the first seven months totalled $1,648,550, compared to $3,510,440 recorded by this time in 1956. A total of 109 permits were issued at the Saanich building office during July for construction worth $674,050, compared to 103 permits for $473,215 worth of building in the same month last year.

Private dwelling construction value was $598,000 in July, and 3,294,700 for the seven-month period.

Oak Bay issued 34 permits for a total of $280,125. This compares with 48 permits for $303,690 in July in 1956.

To date this year, 270 permits for $1,471,961 worth of construction have been issued. In the first seven months of 1956, 236 permits for $1,605,691 construction were issued. July's Esquimalt construction, 14 permits for $83,100, is down from the 19 permits for $105,375 issued in 1956. For the year, however, Esquimalt's figure is near the 1953 totals. A boom in industrial and commercial construction last year brought the seven-month total to $1,356,930 for 143 permits.

Esquimalt's total to the end of July this year is 157 permits for $554,094.

Appearance Still Top Credential For Top Executives, Survey Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—The young men who get to the top of the business world in a hurry seem to be a dressy lot.

Replies from 140 of the young presidents of American corporations also suggest that they took time enough on their way up to shop for clothes, and that they still match the articles carefully before setting off each morning for the executive suite.

The survey was conducted by the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear to see if the young executive has been doing right by the apparel industry.

Asked how many suits each owned, the youthful bosses gave a range of 50 to three, with the average coming out at 14.3 a man—averages having a way of showing that odd decimal. They buy three or four suits a year, usually in the spring and fall.

SMART CREDENTIALS

The corporate chiefs think personal appearance is a help to them in carrying out their present tasks, and also to any other man headed in the same direction. But they of their entire wardrobe is in the are much more emphatic about the part the other fellow's personal appearance plays when they are sizing him up and they stress the impact upon them of a first impression.

Getting back to their 140 wardrobes, the shirt supply ranges from 100 to 10, averaging 29 each—with 27 of the shirts plain and six fancy.

The younger president is well stocked with socks. One man says he has 100 pairs. The average has 30, with 22 of them in solid colors and eight patterned.

He gets along with 10 pairs of shoes and four hats with one having 16.

One man has 200 neckties on his rack. The average is 65. But one executive finds 12 enough.

Mostly the top man makes do with two overcoats, two topcoats and 1.5 raincoats.

Living can be casual at times even on the heights. The corporate presidents own an average 3.8 sports coats, with the top number 15, and figure that one-fourth of new iron and steel centres there.

sports category. The majority never wear sports clothes to business, although 14 of them do regularly, and a few others do occasionally.

Three-fourths of them think a chest pocket handkerchief a must for proper dress. The majority own a tuxedo.

One man has 50 sets of links and studs to choose from. On average they own seven sets of male jewelry.

One president makes do with just one pair of pyjamas—another needs 20—and the average is 5.8 pairs.

Chinese Reds Report Huge Iron Deposits

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Communist China has 11,000,000,000 tons of known iron ore deposits and possibly more that is still undiscovered, the Communist New China news agency said today. Big deposits found in Szechwan and Hupeh provinces, it said, warranted the setting up of new iron and steel centres there.

New Zealand Eyes Canada As Bright Export Market

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealand is showing keen interest in the prospects of increasing exports to Canada.

Failure of a recent trade mission to win major concessions in Britain and the coming of the European common market are among factors which have caused New Zealand to look hard at its current export program.

The conclusion has been that country is far too much at the mercy of the British market and that new outlets for its goods are essential.

Canada is one of the first to come in for attention. The New Zealand trade commissioner in Canada, N. S. Mountain, now is visiting New Zealand and his calls in various towns have aroused extraordinary interest among businessmen.

The chief products New Zealand has to export are wool, meat, dairy produce and fruit. Wool offers little problem since it sells freely on a competitive world market.

This is what Mountain has been telling reporters about the prospects for other produce in Canada. Meat: Canada's rapidly increasing population and expanding economy are providing a growing market for New Zealand meat. Sheep population is declining and mutton and lamb consumption has fallen. Since lamb is New Zealand's largest meat export, promotion in a competitive market offers good prospects.

CHANGING PATTERN

Dairy produce: All are under some sort of import control at present. But with increasing population and the drift from the country to the cities, Canada is changing from an exporter to an importer of primary produce. New Zealand might be able to enter the dairy produce market again in 18 months to two years.

Apples: A good market has been established and the seasonal advantage enjoyed by New Zealand makes prospects bright.

BANANA WAS DELILAH

Citizenry Aid Monk Dodge Zoo's Clutch

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UP)—Citizens here had taken quite a shine to a monkey whose King Kong adventure lasted nine days.

The little fellow, an escapee from the zoo, was the neighborhood delight as he successfully defied authority since July 21 only to, alas, come a cropper when greed overcame his better judgment.

There was nothing planned about the break. The monkey and three of his "pen pals" seized an golden opportunity when a keeper left a gate open while cleaning their pen. In a moment, they were gone.

His three friends didn't get very far and were quickly captured.

He alone kept up the good flight. With the encouragement of neighbors and small children, he led his pursuers a merry chase through the park and the adjoining neighborhood.

When caretakers got too close, there was always someone to give him sufficient warning. He flitted nimbly through the treetops. Children left food for him on lawns. He was free.

Then he saw a banana. It looked good. He grabbed it. Too late he realized he had walked into a trap. A door closed behind him, ending his escape.

Now, he's back in his cage. But, having tasted freedom, will bananas ever taste the same again?

Marilyn Loses Child
In Real Life Drama

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn Monroe, wife of playwright Arthur Miller, lost her baby by an operation Thursday night in Doctors Hospital, a medical source reported today.

"The baby could not be saved and it was urgent to protect the life of the mother," said the source who declined use of his name.

The operation followed a fast ambulance trip from the Millers' summer home at Amagansett on the eastern end of Long Island.

An emergency call for the East Hampton Ambulance Service was made from the Miller home at noon Thursday.

DOCTOR HANDY

Dr. Hilliard Dubrow, New York gynaecologist and one of Miss Monroe's physicians, happened to be in East Hampton at the time and travelled with stricken film star and her husband.

When she was admitted to the hospital one of her doctors said Miss Monroe was "five or six weeks pregnant and is expecting her child at the end of March." There have been persistent rumors she was expecting a child. She was wheeled from the ambulance in a stretcher.

It was learned that the operation was performed by Dr. Dubrow and Dr. Bernard Berglas, also a gynaecologist. Miss Monroe and Miller were married in a civil ceremony at White Plains, N.Y., on June 29, 1956. Two days later they were married in a Reform Jewish ceremony in South Salem, N.Y.

BRITISH PRESS HOSTILE

'Publicity Jamboree'
Charge Irks Skelton

LONDON (Reuters)—Comedian Red Skelton, angry at suggestions he is using his leukemia stricken son as a publicity gimmick, today cut short his tour of England.

"Actors do not publicize on death," the comedian said. "And I don't believe my son is going to die."

His son, Richard, nine, has leukemia, a blood disease that is usually fatal. His parents are showing him many parts of the world so that he can see as much of life as possible.

Richard received a gracious welcome in Denmark, Italy, Spain and France.

But some sectors of the British press have been hostile. Daily Sketch columnist Simon Ward complained Thursday Richard was being involved in a "three-ring circus of publicity and ballyhoo." Ward said today Skelton replied with a bunch of lilies and a card that said: "Sorry that you are sick mentally and physically."

Ward said he sent the flowers to a hospital where they have sick children but "no publicity men, no press conferences, no TV cameras."

One critic on television called Skelton's sightseeing tour a "publicity jamboree."

Skelton then decided to cut short his visit to England because some persons have been "very unkind." He said he would visit Scotland, Denmark and then head for home.

STAR ALLERGIC
CANCELS SHOW

ATHENS, Greece (UP)—A concert by opera star Maria Callas was cancelled here Thursday night because some members of the audience were reported ready to shower the stage with tomatoes.

The Athens festival announced the cancellation less than an hour before the curtain was due to rise, saying the fiery singer was suffering from a sore throat.

It was believed police had refused to guarantee order because of reports that Miss Callas would be booed and chased from the stage by tomatoes.

There has been widespread criticism of the singer here for accepting a $9,000 fee for two concerts. Newspaper critics carried reports she allegedly refused to give financial aid to her mother.

Tisdalle Hits Gov't; Farmers 'Neglected'

MONTE ROBERTS

There is a rumor going around that quite a crowd of people are anxious to get to Port Angeles this Sunday.

Now, I can understand people wishing to go to Port Angeles, by all reports, is a fine, upstanding city, with many attractions, including bars, grills and the Olympic Mountains.

Therefore there is nothing mysterious about these people wishing to go to Port Angeles.

The only reason I mention the rumor at all is that the rumor also insists these people are going to swim to Port Angeles.

And the rumor says there are 18 of these people who are going to swim to Port Angeles.

This I find hard to believe. I could accept a statement to the effect that one person, or possibly two, wished to go to Port Angeles, and intended to do so by swimming.

But not 18 people. It is hard to believe that, in these days of prosperity and employment for all, such a large number of people are unable to afford the fare to Port Angeles.

Victoria is noted as a charitable city, inhabited by open-handed citizens. Let us start a fund to collect money for the 18 persons who wish to go to Port Angeles, and purchase tickets for them on the ferry.

A little man looking over my shoulder has just informed me the 18 people are not trying to swim to Port Angeles for the lack of money.

They are just doing it for the challenge, the little man said.

I find this rather hard to believe. What challenge is there in swimming to Port Angeles? After all, swimming to Port Angeles has been done before.

For a real challenge, try swimming to Port Angeles under water.

And if you think I'm kidding, you are wrong. I have a fool-proof plan for swimming to Port Angeles under water.

If interested, send stamped, self-addressed envelope for details.

Claims Promises Broken On Milk Board Personnel

By PETER MURRAY

Social Credit MLA John Tisdalle today accused the government of "neglecting" B.C. farmers. The Saanich member made the statement after meeting Premier Bennett Thursday with representatives of Vancouver Island and mainland dairymen.

The dairymen asked that the government implement a promise to put an industry representative on the provincial Milk Board.

Mr. Tisdalle said the delegation was given an indication by the premier, who is also minister of agriculture, that the request will be met.

"DISAPPOINTED" The outspoken MLA added, however, that he was disappointed that no firm commitment was made.

"This is typical of a policy of rigid indecision on the part of the department of agriculture, which has had three ministers in five years," he said.

"I think this is not treating the industry with due respect but rather with neglect," he continued.

"Many of the problems are the direct result of not having a minister in the portfolio."

(It is understood some of the dairymen urged the premier to appoint a full-time agriculture minister, and were told this would be done as soon as possible. Some observers believe he is awaiting the result of three by-elections this fall to find new faces.)

Mr. Tisdalle said the dairymen were "unhappy" after Thursday's meeting.

PROMISE REPEATED He said the government pledged a year ago during the provincial election campaign to put an industry representative on the Milk Board, and the premier repeated the promise during the federal campaign in June.

Despite the premier's non-committal attitude Thursday, Mr. Tisdalle said he was confident the government "can do no less than proceed with this."

The dairymen are seeking a replacement for one of the three members of the present board, not an addition to it.

They said the Ontario government within the last few weeks has taken such action.

"The industry feels it needs representation on the board so there will be better co-ordination," Mr. Tisdalle said. There has been "poor co-operation from the board in administration of the Act."

The government member said he had decided to "champion" the cause of the dairymen.

REQUESTS IGNORED At present the dairymen have their own advisory board which makes requests to the Milk Board, but feels that these are being ignored.

One of these demands is for an increase of 50 cents a hundredweight for the base price of milk. They repeated this request to the premier.

The dairymen also asked the government to provide more inspectors to carry out butter-fat and other tests.

Another demand was for investigation of the recent reduction in the freight rate formula on milk shipped to Vancouver Island from the Mainland.

Present at Thursday's meeting besides Mr. Tisdalle were seven executive members of the Mainland Dairymen's Association and 10 from the Island, including C. Bullman and Bill Taylor of Saanich.

'Map Reserve' On B.C. Coast Will Come Soon

Province Hopes To Create Parks

The provincial government is getting close to imposing a "map reserve" on the B.C. coastline in order to save the best of it for parks, Recreation Minister Earle Westwood said today.

The government has been urged to avoid the mistakes made by a number of coastal U.S. states and save more beaches for public enjoyment.

Under regular procedure, sale of Crown lands is carried out within the lands department.

Under a map reserve, before any foreshore land owned by the Crown could be sold to private concerns, the department of recreation and conservation would be notified.

COULD BLOCK SALE Department officials could then examine the property to see if it would be suitable for park purposes, and block the sale if necessary.

Mr. Westwood said it had not been decided how far inland the map reserve would extend.

Many choice sections of B.C. coastline have been snapped up privately, the minister said, and the government wants to ensure that the public will have plenty of room for recreation.

The new department is particularly interested in establishing marine parks in the coastal inlets and islands.

A special training course in aeronautics will be instituted this fall by the provincial department of education, in conjunction with the Vancouver school board and airline companies.

This was announced today by Education Minister Pearson, who said too many young men are going outside the province to learn flying and not returning.

A committee has been set up to advise the government on the proposed new school, and it is planned to start a number of training programs as soon as possible.

Temporary quarters will be available this fall at the PNE grounds in Vancouver.

First classes will be under the supervision of the Vancouver Vocational Institute.

Air line companies will provide most of the training equipment and are "anxious to see the program under way," Mr. Peterson said.

Woman Minister To Be Inducted At Victoria West Church Tonight

The United Church in Victoria will welcome its second woman minister at 7.30 this evening when Dr. Norah L. Hughes is inducted into the charge of Victoria West Church.

Participating in the induction service will be the first United Church woman to serve as a fully-ordained minister in this area, the Rev. E. Laura Butler, assistant at Metropolitan Church.

Dr. Hughes has been called to the pastorate at Victoria West to replace the Rev. C. Guy McKenzie, who has accepted the charge at Salt Spring Island. Dr. Hughes comes to Victoria from Fernie.

Presiding at tonight's induction will be the Rev. Douglas Pilkey of neighboring Esquimalt United Church. The charge to the congregation will be given by the Rev. Robert Moses of Nanaimo, who was the minister at Abbotsford United Church when Miss Hughes decided to enter the ministry in 1937.

A native of Portsmouth, England, Dr. Hughes came to British Columbia as a girl, settling near Abbotsford, where her people had a small farm. She attended normal school in Vancouver and taught school briefly before entering UBC where she received her BA degree, with honors in biology in 1932. She won her master's of arts degree in 1934 and taught for several years as an assistant in the biology department of the university.

Her decision to enter the ministry resulted in more schooling, and she graduated in theology and was ordained in 1940. After serving in two pastoral charges, Hazelton and Chase, she entered the divinity school of the University of Chicago in 1942 and received her doctorate in 1945.

Before going to Fernie she served the church as minister in Ashcroft, Hatzic and North Surrey.

A prime favorite with the United Church clergy throughout the provincial conference, Dr. Hughes takes an active part in the activities of the wider church and is chairman of the conference committee on publications.

She is known as a hard worker and a commanding speaker. For several years she has made her home with a friend and companion, Miss Agnes Herd.

Her induction this evening marks the return of the Victoria West pastorate to a full-time charge. Since 1934 it has been a joint charge with James Bay United Church, sharing a minister. This spring both churches resolved to become self-supporting.

CHILDREN LEARN PAINTING ABCs

Busy young painters at Beacon Hill Park are polishing their paintings for a children's exhibition at the Art Gallery after "Painting in the Parks" classes end Aug. 9. Six-week course is sponsored by the Federation of Canadian Artists, under direction of Rex Calhoun, right, art teacher at Colquitz Junior High School. Some 130 youngsters are taking classes at Beacon Hill Park and Sidney.

ALL FIVE naval reserve air squadrons start intensive two-week training course Aug. 17 at HMCS Shearwater, near Dartmouth, N.S., under command of Lt.-Cmdr. A. M. Davidson of Victoria. The course, first in which all squadrons have participated on a joint basis, will concentrate on weapons and anti-submarine warfare. All squadrons will fly their own aircraft to the training point. Patricia Bay-based squadron VC922 will participate.

Extra Police on Saturday For Wild Driving Checkup

Full force of police crack-down on sloppy, show-off driving will be felt Saturday night when extra men will be detailed to cover downtown streets.

Chief John Blackstock said he will assign additional patrolmen to give emphasis to his campaign to weed out the potential criminal drivers and make the streets safer.

"Any infraction of the Motor Vehicle Act will be fully enforced," the chief said.

ONLY START "This is only the start."

"This will be one of the first steps in the department's program aimed at 'putting the fear of God' into irresponsible drivers."

He said his department wants to see a large haul of driving offenders and then "throw the book at them."

Police action, backed by police commissioners, follows a wave of public concern over two serious crashes involving teen-agers drivers last week.

WRECK DISPLAY To impress the driving public with seriousness of traffic carelessness, the chief suggests erection of one of last week's wrecked cars at the Fountain Circle.

This move could not be made without co-operation from the insurance firm involved and until completion of any legal action arising from the crash, from which one boy died and two others are in serious condition.

Emphasis could be on both aspects of driving—the bad and the good.

If police commission finances would allow, the chief suggests, good driving may be rewarded in some way in order to give proper highway conduct and courtesy recognition.

Previously suggested as a means of catching unsuspecting violators is a system of "ghost" traffic cars as employed by the RCMP and city of Vancouver from time to time.

Police finances, however, again present a difficulty here, Chief Blackstock pointed out.

Cash Lacking For Old Folks' Apartment

Less than $3,000 has been donated for a proposed $75,000 pensioners' apartment building on Styles Street, Senior Citizen's Housing Society vice-president Mrs. May Campbell said Thursday.

The society will meet at Spencerhouse next Thursday at 8 p.m. to discuss ways of raising the $7,500 necessary to qualify for a provincial grant.

"The more money we raise, the lower rents will be," Mrs. Campbell said.

The society hopes to keep rents below $25 per month, she said, "but that will be impossible unless we receive many more donations."

Architect Roderick Clark has designed the building to house 23 single and married couple's units. Single suite will contain a bed-sitting room, kitchenette and bathroom, and double, a sitting room, separate bedroom, kitchenette and bathroom.

The society has tentative plans for a door-to-door canvass of Greater Victoria next fall, with all proceeds going into the building fund.

'FARCICAL' SAYS WARREN OF MOUNTIES IN SEATTLE

It is ironic that 12 scarlet-coated Mounties will be parading at the Seattle Sea Fair on Saturday, yet cannot be seen in British Columbia, publicity commissioner George Warren said today.

"The situation is farcical," Mr. Warren said. "Thousands of Americans will see the Mounties in Seattle and decide to come up here in consequence."

"Lots of them will bring their children with the promise they are going to see real Mounties in action."

"What a let-down for the kiddies when they find there is not a redcoat to be seen anywhere."

Mr. Warren is annoyed because RCMP assistant commissioner C. W. Harvillat told him Mounties could not be spared for use as a tourist attraction.

"He can spare 12 Mounties for a Seattle parade, yet he cannot spare one for Vancouver Island."

Wong Doo Wah Rites Set for Wednesday

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Chinese Presbyterian Church, North Park Street, for Wong Doo Wah, 70, who died July 28 after a short illness.

Rev. Mui Fong Leung will conduct the service and interment will take place at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Born in Canton, Mr. Wong came to Canada alone, a boy of 16, and settled in Victoria. During his 54 years of residence here he worked as a gardener, thus combining a means of livelihood with the great pleasure he took in dealing with growing things, especially flowers.

ELDER SINCE 1914 When only 18 years of age he embraced Christianity, and became a member of the Chinese Presbyterian Church. He had been an elder of the church since 1914, was a teacher and superintendent of the Sunday school for more than 30 years, and at the time of his death was treasurer of the inter-church committee representing the Chinese Christian churches here.

He was a member of Wong Kung Har Tong Society, was president on several occasions, and at the time of his death was a member of the executive of the society. Through his capacity as a church elder he represented the church on boards of practically all of the Chinese community associations here, and was an officer of several.

In 1913 he married Wong Leong Shee, and they had five sons and a daughter, Mrs. Karl T.-K. Ngan of Portland, Ore.

All five sons attended university, and most have been graduated. Only Peter is in the west, while John, Joshua, Joseph, and Stephen are in eastern Canada.

Surviving besides the widow, at 736 Caledonia, and the six children, are two grandchildren, Clifton and Felix, in Portland. Sands have charge of funeral arrangements.

TRAFFIC FINES In city police court today: Arthur T. Williams, 998 Madison, $35 for careless driving, Raymond L. Greenwood, 1534 Yale, $25 for allowing a passenger to interfere with control of a vehicle.

Frederick Hoyer Chudren, 801 Collinson, $10 for crossing a double solid centre line.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Spice Up Picnic Lunches
With European Specialties

By PENNY SAVER

This weekend I've sort of kicked over the traces, so to speak. Instead of giving you the prices along vegetable row I'm going to tell you of a simply scrumptious little shop I've discovered.

If you're going picnicking and you'd like to pep up the usual "paper-bag" sandwich, or to surprise the gang with something quite different... you'll be interested.

It's a specialty shop which imports over 130 varieties of cheeses, guaranteed to put "just a little something extra" into your sandwiches. There are 23 kinds of Danish cheeses alone, and featured among these is, of course, Danish Gorgonzola, at 90c a lb.

We don't seem to be "penny saving," do we? But after you've had a whiff of this tangy cheese, I'm sure you'll agree it's worth it. There is also French Roquefort cheese, cured in sherry, at $1.55 a lb., Dutch Gouda at 85c a lb. and Swiss Emmentaler, that comes direct from Switzerland in 200-lb. blocks, at $1.25 a lb. This has an enticing hazel-nut taste.

Also excellent for sandwiches are the many varieties of "sa-lamis" or sausages. There is a special beer sausage, at 85c lb., that your husband would love for lunch with a cold glass of beer. A European smoked ham salami, $1.45 a lb., is not at all salty, and German dill pickles, 85c a lb., are mild yet delightfully spicy.

Hors-d'oeuvres that are different are onion, garlic or shrimp puffs at 65c a bottle, or pickled corn-on-a-cob, 3" long cobs in a bottle priced at 57c. Pickled onions about the size of a pea are 75c a jar, and sweet pickled raisins from Germany are $1.15.

If you have my curiosity, you'll love to try a tin of smoked frogslegs, 75c; Japanese rainbow trout, 50c; or even smoked mussels at 35c a tin. A tin of over 100 baby clams is only 35c.

Now you can find out what real Italian spaghetti is, for here you have a choice of 48 varieties, varying from long thin twists to old-fashioned "flore" and bow-tie shapes.

They are 28c a lb. The shopkeeper will even teach you how to cook it!

Does a package of ready-mix potato dumplings from Austria interest you? It's 40c. Real peppermint leaves for peppermint tea come in bags at 20c each, and Kamille tea, sure headache cure, is 17c. If your family is tired of the same old jello puddings, try something with a European twist. Packages of vanilla, chocolate, raspberry or caramel mixes from Germany are only 13c each.

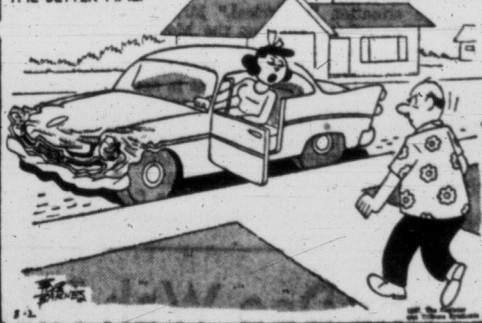

The biggest chocolate bar in the world is made of smooth milk chocolate from Switzerland and is $1.75. German novelty chocolates, in plant-pot shapes, are 20c each, and French Poulain chocolate, with a flavor all its own, is 15c a bar.

A roll of real peppermint candies to pop in lunch bags is only a nickel.

If you'd like to know where I "discovered" my little shop, call me at 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I have two problems. My hair is falling out badly. Also, even though I get plenty of sleep, I have dark circles under my eyes."

A. The dark circles are usually hereditary. However, they can come from malnutrition, loss of sleep, or poor health due to some specific cause. Since you get enough sleep and are also having trouble with a loss of hair, I think you should have a physical checkup. Both conditions may be due to the same cause.

Q. "Someone has told me not to use vinegar rinses because they will make my hair turn grey. Is this so?"

A. No.

Q. "How do you use a lip brush when applying lip rouge?"

A. First be sure that the lips are entirely clean and dry. Outline the natural shape of your lips with the brush. Do not distort the lips while outlining them. Then fill in.

Q. "The hair on my upper lip is very dark and noticeable. Please tell me what I can do about it. It is making me self-conscious."

A. The hair is probably too fine to remove with tweezers. Therefore I suggest that you bleach it often with peroxide. It may well be worth while to have it removed permanently by electrolysis.

Q. "Since my baby came I have gained ten pounds. I needed these since I was underweight, but the trouble is that it all seems to have landed on my abdomen. What should I do?"

A. Just as soon as your doctor gives his permission take abdominal exercises.

Q. "Will permanent waves hurt the hair?"

A. No, not if you have a good operator. The scalp would have to receive injury for there to be any permanent harm done anyway.

Q. "The hair on my upper lip is very dark and noticeable. Please tell me what I can do about it. It is making me self-conscious."

A. The hair is probably too fine to remove with tweezers. Therefore I suggest that you bleach it often with peroxide. It may well be worth while to have it removed permanently by electrolysis.

Q. "Since my baby came I have gained ten pounds. I needed these since I was underweight, but the trouble is that it all seems to have landed on my abdomen. What should I do?"

A. Just as soon as your doctor gives his permission take abdominal exercises.

Q. "Will permanent waves hurt the hair?"

A. No, not if you have a good operator. The scalp would have to receive injury for there to be any permanent harm done anyway.

Of Electronics in the Kitchen

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Have you ever thought how wonderful it would be to pop a roast in the oven (a six-pound affair that normally takes three hours to cook) and have it ready for the table in 30 minutes?

How would you like to toss a potato in that same oven and have it baked in four minutes? Or, perhaps you like to bake a layer cake in three minutes.

Don't laugh! It's not impossible! In fact, there are housewives in Canada doing just that today.

How? ... by electronics! An attractive young woman named Miss Geraldine Mann, home economics expert with a well-known Canadian stove manufacturing firm, was in Victoria yesterday on a brief visit to tell people about this revolutionary method of cooking.

GEESSE STARTED IT It all started, she says, with a flock of geese. During the war years, when radar was coming to the fore, the geese took a short cut across a radar beam.

They were cooked to a crisp! This started scientific brains churning with the thought that radar might be used in some form in the kitchen. Eight years experimenting and testing followed. Then, up they came with the electronic range which brings us right to the edge of an era of microwave home cooking.

Miss Mann had a picture of the new range with her. It is exactly like a wall radio with all the push buttons and with a television screen-like face.

How is the cooking done? Miss Mann says by hi-frequency radio waves that penetrate the food at high speed. These waves are quickly absorbed by said food and it cooks in "no time flat."

"Because there is no heat," Geraldine Mann explains, "the juices and moisture in foods have no chance to dry up, with the result that the flavor is absolutely wonderful and everything remains tender and good." Tests in the laboratory show, she says, that the vitamin content is 17% higher, too.

There is one catch, of course. At present this electronic range costs somewhere around $1,795. Even at that price there are stoves in operation in private homes in Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary and in the Maritimes.

"It won't be long," Miss Mann prophesies, "until these ranges are within the reach of all. You'll see that within five to ten years, most people will be cooking electronically."

MOTHER IN CONTROL How about all the free time this is going to give the housewife? "It will give her more time with her family... more time to be creative in the kitchen," comes back Miss Mann's answer. Then she clinches it with "you know, even with all the push-buttons, mother still has to push the buttons."

Miss Mann has been established in Montreal for the past three and a half years. She has a test kitchen where she checks not only electronic stoves but all the gas and electric varieties.

She likes Montreal... "It's a fabulous city" ... but her home is in Nelson, B.C. (where she is going to spend a holiday before she returns to Quebec).

"And once a westerner," she says, with the kind of gleam in her eyes that makes one wonder if she isn't just waiting for the day when she will be able to influence all B.C. housewives to cook by electronics so she can spend her time out here assisting them.

In honor of Miss Maureen Bromley, August bride-to-be, a shower was held at the home of Mrs. C. Freer, Linden Avenue, with Mrs. M. Dunn as co-hostess. A corsage of pink rosebuds was presented to the bride-elect, while her mother, Mrs. W. J. Bromley, and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. A. Thackray, received peach gladioli. Gifts were presented to Miss Bromley by Miss Lorraine Patterson from a replica of a small red schoolhouse. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a hand-crocheted cloth centred with a bowl of pastel sweetpeas flanked by white candles.

TODAY'S RECIPE

FAVORITE TUNA-PECAN SALAD

Ingredients: 1½ cups water, ½ cup uncooked white rice, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon grated onion, ¼ cup real mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, 1 6½-oz. or 7-oz. can tuna fish, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ cup coarsely chopped pecans (toast if desired), salad greens, 3 hard-cooked eggs, pimiento strips or radish roses for garnish.

Method: Put the water, rice and salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

Stir the onion mayonnaise and black pepper into the hot rice. Sprinkle the tuna with the lemon juice. Stir into the rice. Stir in the pecans. The pecans may be toasted in butter or margarine in a 350°F oven until browned, if desired. Cover and store the salad in the refrigerator.

To serve, place on salad greens. Cut the eggs into wedges. Arrange around the rice-tuna mixture. Garnish with pimiento strips or radish roses. This recipe makes 6 to 7 servings.

The quantity of stuffing to prepare for a whole fish depends somewhat on the shape of the fish and whether or not the backbone has been removed. A general rule of thumb is to allow 1 cup of stuffing for each pound of fish.

cards?

May reception guests play cards? We are giving a large reception in the evening. It is to be our 30th wedding anniversary, but we are not letting it be known. We are planning to set up a few bridge tables for those who wish to play. Is it necessary to provide prizes? Or do we should forget about the card games entirely?

Louise Davis answers:

If you decide to provide some of your guests with tables and cards for bridge, it shouldn't be necessary to have prizes, for your party is primarily a reception and not a bridge party. I think that it would be much better for you to pass up the bridge games entirely, for that reason, as it is hardly appropriate for such an occasion. Your card-playing guests would be isolating themselves from the rest of the reception. A four-some of bridge is very unsocial in relation to the reception, and I don't think that you should encourage or entice them by having the game equipment ready, for you aren't giving a card party.

Cauliflower Leaves for a Salad—Next time you cook cauliflower save the outer leaves for the salad course. Just wash, chop fine and combine with the other salad greens.

FLIGHT AROUND THE WORLD

Sacred Stories Live in Land Of Bible; Many Contrasts

By Stella Gummow

Jerusalem, Jordan.

"Here I am sitting at the window of a lovely hotel in Jerusalem. The boundary line between Jordan and Israel is just below and the twinkling lights of Jerusalem in Israel—which we may not visit—make us seem one. Yet, in between is the black darkness of No Man's Land. It seems impossible that a city could be divided so completely."

"Our guide is a devout Christian and a good Bible student. He has made the sacred stories of the Bible live for us."

Stella

"We have been shown the place where Jesus wept over Jerusalem and we have seen the joint church edifice built on the site of the manger where Jesus was born. Here, three different Christian churches worship in different buildings, all inter-joined. Led by our guide we went down to the original stone manger."

"We have been to the site of the home of Mary and Martha at Bethany, to Rachel's tomb, the fields of Boaz, the Garden of Gethsemane and the Mount of Olives."

"Our whole trip to this Middle East has been interesting and inspirational, although much that is disturbing came to view."

"We landed first at Beirut, and from there drove along the blue Mediterranean then up over the hills and through miles of apple, peach, apricot and plum orchards, on irrigated land. We saw miles of new buildings and apartment blocks; crossed the pipeline being built to bring oil to the Mediterranean and we stopped at the Experimental Farm of the American University where we were greeted by the staff and given a cool drink. Wonderful! It was a very hot day!"

"At Baalbeck we saw the magnificent ruins... and wonder of wonders, the building where they are placing seats and installing flood lights for a series of Shakespearean plays. Imagine! Shakespeare in this ancient and historic temple!"

A Walk on the Street Called Straight

"The road to Damascus, a city of contrasts, was winding. There was no vegetation until we approached the outskirts; then we saw the river, lined with families cooling off or having a meal for this was the Moslem holy day—Friday. The women all wore black with thick black veils covering their faces. Some carried small children."

"Our hotel in Damascus was excellent, modern and air-conditioned."

"We were invited, before dinner, to visit a brass and mother of pearl factory. This took us into the old part of the city, down the Street Called Straight and from it into a narrow alley where we were glad to all be together, and then into 'the palace.'"

"There was a lovely garden with trees and a fountain playing, where we were given Turkish coffee and Damascus cakes. Later, we were shown over the whole building, very old and beautifully ornate. It had been a harem in days gone by."

"We saw where the women ground the coffee and how they did it, and the lovely display of brasses and brocades. Of course, some of us bought various things."

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Christianson, 49 Erie Street, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Deanna Thelma, to Mr. James Malcolm, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McMillan, 2642 Forbes Street. Miss Christianson has chosen Mrs. Marlene Christianson as matron-of-honor; Miss Karen Roskamp and Miss Maureen Marriott as bridesmaids; and Joyce Burns as flower girl. Mr. Noel Boston will be best man; Mr. Ray Christianson and Mr. George Christianson, the ushers. The wedding will take place on Aug. 31 at 8 p.m. in Christ Church Cathedral, with Dean Brian Whitlow officiating.

Paris and Christian Dior Shorten Skirts by Inches; Calf Unveiled

NEW YORK (UP)—It looks as if women will be raising hemlines come next spring.

Leading Paris designers, including Christian Dior who unveiled his fall and winter collections Thursday, have shortened skirts from one inch to several inches. Dior showed 15 inches from the floor length.

Some New York designers, who showed their fall and winter collections in July, now say they beat Paris to the hemline change. But their shortening was hardly so drastic. They don't think the American woman will go for a skirt which exposes the whole calf of the leg.

Most of the designers paged for reaction to the Paris collections felt the resort and spring clothes would be most affected. Fall lines are mostly cut and many are shipped.

"Skirts have been on the upswing for some time," said Hilda Altmark, designer for Branel. "The shorter skirt seems right and should help add excitement to fashion." "Personally, I like the look of a beautiful leg—and quite a lot of it," said Luis Estevez of Grenelle. "... so I have made my winter clothes generally about an inch shorter than last year."

"The dresses in my next collection will be one inch shorter, because I felt they looked better, particularly with the new barrel skirt silhouette," said Betty Carol, designer for Mam'elle. "But the 17 to 19-inch heights reached in the Paris collections are too drastic. The well-dressed American woman knows the distance she can raise or lower her hemline is limited to how becoming it will be to her."

Other designer comment: Cell Chapman: "... a rise of about an inch by next spring."

Vincent Monte Sano: "... may result in a rise of about half an inch next season ... doubt if there will be any abrupt change."

Oleg Cassini: "... I like skirts short and tight; I showed them an inch shorter for fall ... we won't show the knee."

Evelyn Dawson of Suzy Perette: "I like to see adventures in skirt lengths ... women everywhere are in the mood to return the leg to its rightful claim to glamor. Short skirts will help to do it."

SCREAMING, TERRIFYING figures that menaced travellers in the Sooke Hills this week were not really savage Indians on the warpath, but Wolf Cubs. The little fellows, all from Mowllie sub-camp at Camp

Barnard, donned war paint for one day of their six-day holiday at the camp. By end of holiday season 250 Cubs will have gone through camp. Boy Scouts also attend at separate camp. (Times Photo.)

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions by letter to Andy will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas of Canada.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Pauline Noe, age 11, of Rock Rapids, Iowa, for her question:

Which animal is the most intelligent?

Sometimes the animal kingdom seems to be much smarter than mankind. When winter comes, birds take off for warmer climates and other creatures curl up in cozy nooks to hibernate. Even baby animals seem to know the kinds of food that suits them. Most amazing of all, each animal knows exactly what to do about handling life to its children. Birds build nests and burrows dig burrows. The world of nature is full of this amazing wisdom and we thing perhaps the animals have more intelligence than we have.

But this is not so. The wisdom of the animals is a built-in knowledge of nature's laws. Most of the things they know are called instincts. Birds migrate and frogs hibernate because they know what to do by instinct. The baby deer recognizes his hungry enemy by instinct. These creatures merely know that the laws of nature must be obeyed. They have no choice.

Human beings, however, have another kind of wisdom, the knowledge which we call intelligence. We have a choice in what we do. We can be sensible or foolish. We can reason things out, make plans and decisions for ourselves. To a small degree, certain animals can also reason things out—even solve simple puzzles. But no animal has the kind of intelligence to plan a picnic for next week or design a bicycle from an assortment of parts. It is this ability to make plans and follow them through which sets us apart from the animals.

DIFFERENCE IN BRAINS

As to reasoning and solving puzzles, certain animals are much smarter than others. The differences lie in the brains of these animals. Worms just do not have the grey and white brain cells with which to solve puzzles. Only a few creatures in the vast animal kingdom have brains advanced enough to solve even simple puzzles.

These animals have been tested with all sorts of experiments. The trick is to set out food for the animal and give him a problem to solve before he reaches it. One experiment is a maze. The animal sets out along a path turning this way and that. He makes a lot of wrong turns and learns by trial and error. If he is very hungry he soon learns to avoid the wrong turns and the dead ends and go straight to the food at the end of the maze.

Small brains, take a long time to figure out even a simple maze. Rats, who have larger brains, learn faster. Dogs still larger brains learn faster than rats.

MONKEYS BEST

Even smarter than these animals are the monkeys—or some of them. And the smartest of all the monkeys is the chimpanzee. This darling of the zoo loves to ride a bike, or better still, ride a pony. He can solve more complicated puzzles than any other animal. When bananas are out of reach he will stack up a pile of boxes and stand on top of them to get his food. When a choice morsel is under a grating, he will use a pair of pliers to lift the lid. There may be smarter animals than the chimpanzee, but so far we have not discovered them. Mr. Chim heads the class of animal intelligence.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Merton Smith, age 11, of Columbus, Ohio, for the question:

WHY DO CHICKENS EAT GRAVEL?

If we dined on pebbles and gravel our poor insides would be torn to ribbons. Besides, all the trouble would be for nothing. For there is no food value in rocks and stones. There is no food value in the stones a chicken will swallow either. However, he needs a few bits of grit to digest his food.

The chickens' stomach is very different from ours. We have juices and powerful muscles to break up our food and squeeze out the goodness. The chicken relies on a fold of tough muscle called a gizzard. The gizzard acts like a pair of mill stones to grind up the food.

The gravel is not eaten as food. It is eaten to help the gizzard tear and grind up the food. Ostriches have been known to swallow large stones, and even nails for this purpose. And in the dim past, some of the dinosaurs digested their food with stones and gizzards.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

Victoria District: Indians. In they were taking as only a dians everywhere you looked.

Under the leadership of the Camp Akela Arthur Chamberlain and assistant Mrs. Rhoda Price who with ten other adult leaders are holding the last period of the annual district Cub camps, which run for a six-day period.

The boys are sleeping in tents that have wooden floors to keep them off the ground and have a large central cook house.

The new swimming pool and floats built by Bob Mills executive commissioner and his team of nine service Scouts make a safe place for the boys to have fun and enjoyment in the water.

A constant check is made to ensure safety of the Cubs and only those who are good swimmers are allowed in deep water and then they are under guard with a Scout who has a boat ready at all times.

From early morning to campfire time in the evening there is much activity, including hiking, nature study and handicraft from the material that the boys can collect.

During the day the boys are allowed "cater" one "choo-late bar and a bottle of pop on this important occasion," he said.

For wet days a large canvas has been placed over a framework where the boys can be kept busy making plaster models from plaster of Paris and rubber moulds as well as some imitations of their own imagination.

At dusk the campfire and singing—intermingled with skills by the boys themselves are a thing that the Cubs will never forget.

Ladysmith Plans Parking By-Law To Help Stores

LADYSMITH—City council this week started proceedings to prepare a by-law to solve the parking problems that plague the city along First Avenue, main business street in the city.

BCHIS Kills Public Plan For Hospital

LAKE COWICHAN (CP)—Residents of this area who donated $67,000 towards a proposed Lake Cowichan hospital had their contributions returned Thursday following refusal of the provincial government to approve the project.

The scheme was launched in June, 1954, when a public meeting was called and a Lake Cowichan Hospital Society formed. Several lumber companies offered to match contributions of their employees.

Officials of the society said four briefs presented to the provincial government failed to secure approval of the department of health and the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service. A site had been chosen and several surveys made.

A total of 840 local residents made contributions to the fund, many through payroll deductions.

View Royal Plans Fiesta to Raise Centennial Funds

LUXTON—South Vancouver Island Rangers Park, on Happy Valley Road here, will be the scene Saturday of the first of a series of fiestas to be staged by View Royal Centennial Committee.

Funds raised will be used for development of the committee's scheme for a park on Portage Inlet.

The fiesta will run from 1 p.m. to dark. Food to be served will include home-made pies, a barbecue, and clam chowder cooked by Dave McMillan.

View Royal and Langford volunteer firemen will meet in a softball game, and a horseshoe pitching competition will take place. Veteran Stages leave Herald Street for the park, nine miles from Victoria.

Youth of Month Plan Considered

CHEMAINUS—A youth of the month program will be considered by the Rotary Club.

Maurice Low, club youth committee chairman, suggested the program as a means of publicizing the achievements of the young people of the district. All too often, he said, the bad things youngsters do receive publicity. He recommended that the club honor an outstanding boy or girl each month.

Ald. P. R. Battle and Ald. Tom Strang were named as a special committee to prepare a parking by-law after Mayor Len Ryan reported on the problems of a trucking firm trying to make deliveries to stores.

Police will not permit big semi-trailer trucks to park on the street, he said.

He said the Nanaimo manager of the freight company had agreed to make deliveries at the rear of business premises on the west side of the street, but rear deliveries were not possible on the east side because there is no lane behind some of the buildings.

"I think a two-hour parking limit would help the situation," the mayor said.

The council was on the point of passing a new by-law earlier this year to restrict parking during business hours to two hours, but the Chamber of Commerce requested that action be deferred until a voluntary system of parking restrictions could be tried out.

At that time a committee of the chamber asked businessmen and their staffs to park their cars on side streets, leaving First Avenue clear for customers.

Ald. Battle said it was apparent that the voluntary system had not worked out, so the only alternative for the council was to go ahead with the by-law.

"I believe that the parking space in the business section belongs to all the people and not just the people who get there first," Mayor Ryan said.

Spent Bullets From Range Prove Menace

COURTENAY—After two local fishermen came within inches of being hit by spent rifle bullets, RCMP asked the Royal Canadian Navy to post sentries at its Comox spit rifle range to warn off the unwary.

"Targets" were Tom Wardrop and Jack Lefcoe, who this week reported spent bullets plopping in the water all around them. The area actually is marked on navigation maps as forbidden because of the proximity of the rifle range, but since sports fishermen and tourists rarely use or see such maps, it was decided that posting of sentries, or stopping of firing, would suffice.

Current firing practice is being undertaken by Sea Cadets at HMCS Quadra.

MAIN CONSTRUCTION camp for Ash River project is bare one-quarter mile from shore of Great Central Lake, at mouth of Lowry Creek.

Crews Working At Ash River Occupy Camp

PORT ALBERNI—A joint camp for crews working on the giant Ash River project of the B.C. Power Commission, to provide electrical power for the booming Alberni Valley lumber industry, was occupied this week.

The men work for Farmer Construction (VI) Ltd. of Victoria, that has a $379,999 contract for construction of a power house on Great Central Lake, and Belmont Construction, tunnel contractors.

The tunnel will be part of the division scheme that will send water from the Ash River and Elsie Lake into the Great Central powerhouse for the production of 35,000 horsepower.

Total scheme calls for production of 87,500 horsepower, but problems arising from salmon runs in Stamp River are holding up plans for construction of dams at Great Central and Sproat Lakes, and power houses on Sproat Lake and Sproat River.

B.C. Power Commission built the road used by construction companies to reach the Great Central camp, on the north shore of the lake and eight miles from the outlet.

Drilling and blasting for the powerhouse at Great Central are under way, and the tunnel is making good progress.

Island Blood Clinic Realizes 250 Pints

CHEMAINUS—A total of 250 pints of blood was obtained at the annual Red Cross blood donor clinic held in the Legion Hall. Convener Mrs. G. Beaulieu reported that a good number of the donors were young men and women in their late teens.

Local nurses volunteered their services to look after the recovery room.

NANAIMO FLYER SUNK

Tug Capsizes, 3 Crewmen Safe

NANAIMO (CP)—The three-man crew of a Nanaimo tug was rescued Thursday when the vessel capsized and sank in tide-swept waters six miles southeast of here.

Skipper Bill Crawshaw and crewmen George Shuker and Ken Dunn, all of Nanaimo, leaped into the water when the 47-foot Nanaimo Flyer was caught in a cross current and overturned. They were picked up minutes later by the fisheries vessel Atlin Post.

The vessel, owned by the Nanaimo Towing Company, was southbound with two barges in tow. It sank swiftly in 180 feet of water off Dodd's Narrows.

Playground Set For Centenary At Saltair

LADYSMITH—Centennial committee of Saltair, residential area four miles south of here, has been given permission by trustees of School District 67 to build a recreation area on the grounds of Mount Brenton School as a centennial project.

The proposition was put before trustees at their regular meeting this week by S. R. Platt, chairman of the centennial committee, and A. Vroom, committee member.

Mr. Platt told the board the committee had considered a number of projects and had finally decided on a surfaced recreation area for tennis, shuffleboard, and other games, and an area with swings and other playground equipment for children.

CHOOSE BEST PLACE

He said that the best place in the district for such an area would be the school grounds.

W. J. Seaton, chairman of the school board, explained that anything constructed on the school ground would automatically become the property of the school district, but he said this would not prevent its use by the public.

It was also pointed out that the area could not be used by the public during school hours.

The request was granted subject to the board approving the plan for the project before construction started.

Mr. Platt said the surface of the area will probably be cement because cement could be mixed and laid by volunteer labor. He said no detailed plan would be available until the committee found out how much money it would have to spend.

Logging Strike Still Threatens

COURTENAY (CP)—Possibility of a major loggers' strike in the Courtenay area still exists, states secretary Jake Epp of the International Woodworkers' of America.

Although a majority of logging operators and IWA members voted in favor of the July 5 contract settlement, four firms have not agreed to the terms.

Marshalling point for crews of Comox Logging Co. in Courtenay also is an unsettled item from the 1955 contract, Mr. Epp states.

Totem Pole and Piling, Olympic Forest Products, Baikie Brothers Logging and Bendickson Logging are the firms which have not agreed to all the contract terms.

A strike may be called against these companies unless they accept the terms, said the IWA official.

War Canoes Proposed For Henley Regatta

SIDNEY (CP)—Racing by B.C. Indian war canoes at the Henley Regatta in England next year is proposed by G. D. Sprot, Beacon Avenue, as a means of promoting the 1958 Centennial celebrations in this province.

He has forwarded the suggestion to the B.C. Centennial Committee. It has promised to consider the proposal.

The appearance of the war canoes on the Thames would materially benefit the province, says Mr. Sprot. He gained the idea when he was a patient in the Veterans' Hospital at Victoria and a fellow patient was Herman Henry, Cowichan Indian councillor, athlete, and veteran.

Mr. Sprot also suggests that the canoes and other Indian arts be included in exhibits at B.C. House in London.

Rain Ends Costly 'Peg Dry Spell

WINNIPEG (BUP) — Two inches of rain fell over some sections of southern Manitoba Thursday night and early today, ending a long dry spell.

A deluge hit Winnipeg early today dropping 1.4 inches of rain and felling a couple of hydro lines clogging sewers and tripping a number of burglar alarms.

A tree was toppled across Centennial Street.

Basements, subways, a railway station were flooded.

Brandon — in western Manitoba — was hardest hit in a fierce two-hour drubbing which dumped two inches of rain during a thunderstorm Thursday.

Water streamed through the Canadian Pacific Railway station and onto the tracks.

CPR officials said the line was slightly weakened in a minor washout within Brandon's city limits.

More than one inch of rain fell within the first 10 minutes of the storm. Up to 30 per cent of the city's basements were flooded.

Hail was reported in an area between Souris and Alexander. Damage to crops on two farms in the district is estimated at 100 per cent.

U.K. Backs Ban

LONDON (Reuters) — Allan Noble, government minister who frequently leads Britain's delegation at the disarmament talks here, said today Britain would support any proposals for banning guided missiles.

Senate Rider on Bill 'A Threat', Says Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the provision for trial by jury added to the civil rights bill by the Senate threatens to weaken the United States judicial system. He said it will make the bill "largely ineffective" in protecting the rights of all Americans to vote.

Eisenhower, previously pictured by Senator John Peter (Rep.-Mich.) as "damn unhappy" over the Senate action, gave his views in a statement marked by sharp language.

He said the 51 to 42 vote guaranteeing jury trials in criminal contempt cases would be "bitterly disappointing" to many millions of Americans.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, who said Eisenhower dictated the statement to him, declined to tell reporters whether the president will veto the bill if it is finally passed by Congress in the form of the Senate measure.

A possibility that it may not do so this year was foreseen

by Senator William F. Knowland of California, the Republican leader.

Knowland, Senate Republican leader from California, told reporters he had "no alibi" for the 51-42 vote by which the Senate adopted a jury trial amendment shortly after midnight.

"I just didn't have the votes," he said.

Adoption of the amendment, he said, probably means that any measure the Senate passes will be tied up in a Senate House of Representatives disagreement. The House had rejected any provision for jury trials.

On the roll call vote the party line-up was 39 Democrats and 12 Republicans for the amendment and nine Democrats and 33 Republicans against it.

Only two senators, both ill, were absent. Knowland said before the vote on the amendment that its adoption would be "a fatal blow" to the bill and so weaken it that it would be virtually unworkable.

TUNA RUN SIGHTED

First big tuna fish run since 1950 off B.C.'s west coast is indicated today, federal chief supervisor of fisheries A. J. Whitmore reported to the Times from Vancouver.

Mr. Whitmore said the fisheries patrol cruiser Howay caught five 20-pound albacore tuna about 85 miles south-west of Cape Beale.

At least four fishing boats sped immediately to the area and more are expected soon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department today ordered a full report from the U.S. Embassy in Havana on the controversial visit of Ambassador Earl E. Smith to the rebel centre of Santiago on Wednesday.

At the same time the state department asserted a hands off policy towards Cuba's turbulent political situation.

'BARBAROUS AGGRESSION'

PERSIAN GULF (AP)—The rebel Imam of Oman has appealed to 29 Afro-Asian nations, including Red China, to put an end to Britain's "barbarous . . . flagrant aggression" in the sun-baked sultanate, it was announced today.

The Imam's spokesman in Cairo handed out a statement accusing Britain of "killing old men, women and children and destroying homes and mosques."

(In London, the British Foreign Office firmly denied the charges and said only military targets have been attacked.)

(The Foreign Office also said the area held by the rebels is "steadily contracting" and only one tribe, headed by Suleiman Ben Hilmia, now is supporting the rebel cause.)

CCFer Challenges Premier to Debate

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (CP)—Erhart Regier, CCF MP for Burnaby-Coquitlam, Thursday night offered to meet Premier Bennett on a public platform in New Westminster to debate the B.C. hospital finances and public debt.

Mr. Regier told a Delta provincial nominating convention he would "be very happy to meet him, with all proceeds going to charity, at any time he chooses."

(Mr. Bennett wasn't available for comment today.)

MEMBERS' IRISH UP

Overall in Murphy Chowder Okay But 'Mick' Stirs House Clambake

WASHINGTON (UP)—Members of Congress including the Irish agreed today it was an Irishman who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder.

But the lawmakers disagreed on whether it's an insult to the Irish to refer to the guilty party as a "Mick."

Rep. Thomas J. O'Neill (Dem.-Mass.) raised the question during a hearing before the usually solemn House rules committee, called to consider whether to investigate Foster's folk songs to take out words such as "Darkies" and "Massa."

Southerners have raised a clamor about the editing, calling it censorship and a distortion of native American folk music.

O'Neill said if anything should be banned from the air it is the words to the song, "Who Threw the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder?" he was particularly concerned about the "insulting" lines:

"It's an Irish trick it's true, and I can lick the Mick who

Living Cost Index Hits New High

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs in Canada hit record levels in June, the bureau of statistics reported today, with the consumer price index rising for the fourth consecutive month to 121.9.

The June rise of three-tenths of a point, mainly due to higher food costs, capped a 12-month increase of 2.9 per cent from July 1 of last year.

The index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

The index had advanced by relatively small steps in the eight months after July of 1956, rising from 118.5 to 120.5 at March 1. Then, in the following four months it jumped successively to 120.9, 121.1, 121.6 and now to 121.9.

There were also rises in the indexes for shelter and for household operations, but no changes in the figures for clothing and for other commodities and services.

The index for household operation costs moved upwards to 119.6 from 119.1 because of higher costs for appliances, furniture, household equipment and domestic help.

B.C. Workers Highest Paid

OTTAWA (CP) — Average weekly wages and salaries earned by Canadians rose to a record $67.78 at June 1, the bureau of statistics said today.

The June 1 figure compares with the previous high of $67.36 at May 1 and $63.93 at June 1 of last year.

Chute Clue To Missing Flier's Fate

HALIFAX, N.S. (BUP)—An airforce spokesman announced today that a ground search party located a parachute belonging to the navigator of a CF-100 jet airplane that crashed in the Seven Islands area of Quebec Thursday. However, there is no trace of the two missing crew members.

The two missing airmen were identified as F/L Kevin P. McNulty, 32, of Thorold, Ont., and P/O J. W. Wilding, 20, of Kingston, Ont.

Blast Rocks Subway

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A blast rocked a six-car subway train during the morning rush hour today, injuring scores and causing panic in the underground tube. The three hospitals to which the injured were taken said none was hurt severely. Many suffered cuts from smashed windows. Others were treated for shock.

HIGH WINDS SUNDAY THREATEN STRAIT SWIM

Weather signs point to possible 25-30 miles an hour gale in Juan de Fuca Strait Sunday, which would delay Junior Chamber of Commerce second annual mass swim marathon scheduled to start at 12 noon.

A storm system expected could leave weather sunny but blustery, the weather office forecast today.

Marathon chairman Lieut. George Colwill said postponement would be on a day-to-day basis and official announcement of the start would be at least 12 hours before the time set.

U.S., Russ Set To Battle Flu

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet Union and the United States today prepared to battle a common foreign opponent, Asiatic influenza.

"Asiatic influenza has come to this country," Soviet Health Minister Maria Kovrigina said Thursday in Moscow. "We have had some outbreaks in some of our cities. We are aware of the grave danger presented by this."

U.S. Surgeon-General Leroy Burney said the epidemic will cause serious economic disruption when it reaches the United States this fall or winter. He said in Washington Thursday night the flu might affect 10 per cent or more of the population in six weeks even with maximum use of vaccine.

Asiatic influenza was first reported in Japan last December. It spread rapidly among Asia's millions. It hit Peiping in March, Hong Kong in April, then spread to Australia and many other parts of the world.

The World Health Organization has consistently stressed the "very mild" nature of the flu. But other scientists point out that flu epidemics often start mildly enough but that second and third waves carry high incidents of death. The great flu epidemic of 1918-1919 started as a mild form but eventually killed an estimated 20,000,000.

Symptoms of the disease are high temperature, headache, sore throat, cough and muscle aches. The fever lasts from three to five days, followed by weakness for several more days.

Dr. Burney said three deaths have been reported so far among 11,000 U.S. cases.

Latest outbreaks include those at Santiago, Chile, where more than 25 per cent of the city's population of 1,100,000 are reported to be affected; at Khartoum, Sudan, with 42,000 cases, and in South Africa and Malaya.

At Penang, North Malaya, a whopping cough epidemic followed the Asian flu, affected several thousand persons, mainly children.

Soviet Could See All Canada, U.S. If They Do Same

LONDON (Reuters)—The West today made sweeping proposals at the disarmament sub-committee meeting here to open up the Northern Hemisphere, including Canada, to ground and aerial inspection, but won a cool response from Valerian Zorin, the Soviet delegate.

Conference sources said Zorin did not reject outright the plans put forward by U.S. State Secretary Dulles for guarding against surprise military attack, but expressed "surprise and misgiving" over them.

Dulles, after days of discussion with the four western delegations here, had offered to open Canada and the United States for inspection in return for similar facilities all over the Soviet Union. Alternatively, he offered to swap vast areas of the Arctic for inspection.

A British informant said Zorin promised to study the proposals carefully but complained that none of the proposed zones covered pro-western bases in Africa, Japan and Pakistan.

Dulles Offer Backed by West

This source said that Zorin contended that proposals to prevent surprise attack should be linked to other measures of disarmament. Otherwise, it would not help to prevent war.

Dulles made the offer in person with the support of the three Western powers which sit on the sub-committee with the United States, Canada, France and Britain.

He told Valerian Zorin, the Soviet representative, that if Russia accepted either one of these offers the West was prepared to extend its "open skies" policy to a further zone in Europe.

It could extend either from the west coast of Ireland to the Ural mountains of Russia, embracing northern Spain and northern Turkey, or could be more limited as long as it included a significant part of Soviet territory.

Dulles, speaking on behalf of the four Western members of the subcommittee, proposed that a working group of experts be set up "as a matter of urgency" to examine the technical problems involved.

The offer provided for "aerial inspection, with ground observation posts at principal ports, railroad junctions, main highways and important airfields, etc., as agreed."

On Alert for Surprise Attacks

"There would also, as agreed, be mobile ground teams with specifically defined authority."

Ground posts could, under agreement, be established to operate outside the zones of aerial inspection, Dulles said. But the areas open to ground inspection should not be less than the areas of aerial inspection.

He said any initial inspection system could later be extended so that "ultimately the system will deal with the danger of surprise attack from anywhere."

Dulles came to the conference table with the approval of the 15-member NATO council. Its members had to be consulted since territories outside the United States, Canada, France and Britain were involved.

The two inspection areas offered, in order of priority were:

1. All the territory of the continental United States, all Alaska including the Aleutian Islands, all the territory of Canada, and all the territory of the Soviet Union.

2. Alternatively, all territory north of the Arctic Circle of the Soviet Union, Canada, United States Alaska, Denmark Greenland and Norway, and all territory of Canada, the United States and the Soviet Union.

Hospital Claims Inability to Pay

VERNON—The administrator of the Vernon Hospital said the hospital cannot pay the wages demanded by non-medical employees, who have threatened to strike.

J. O. Dale said the hospital had a $15,000 deficit last year. He said the award of a conciliation board to workers would cost $9,500 a year.

"We have written to the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service asking if it will pick up the entire cost of the demands but so far we have received no answer," Mr. Dale said.

The strike threat has been made by 80 employees of the Hospital Employees Union, Local 180.

Bill Black, union business manager, said the workers are determined to get a conciliation award of ten cents an hour retroactive to Jan. 1 plus a $7.50 increase in monthly wages for men, and five cents an hour for women.

Mr. Dale said the Vernon hospital pays wages as high as are paid in other Okanagan hospitals.

"Wage contracts in the other hospitals don't run out until December. I don't see why we should pay any increase at least until that time."

NEW UBC BUILDINGS

VANCOUVER—Two federal buildings costing $2,675,000 are scheduled to be built on the UBC campus.

They will form a three-unit block with a forest products laboratory now under construction and expected to open before Christmas.

Tenders have been let for a Fisheries technological station to be built within two years at a cost of $675,000.

Final drawings for a new science services laboratory for the federal department of agriculture are expected to be completed within two weeks and will be forwarded to Ottawa for approval.

The building will cost about $2,000,000.

Merchant Held In Smuggling

NEW YORK (AP)—A diamond merchant is being held in $20,000 bail in connection with an attempt to smuggle into the United States $12,500 worth of gems concealed in a toy dog. Julius Czernak, 42, was arrested Thursday at his home by customs agents. The agents confiscated a toy dachshund on wheels about 10 inches long. Inside the toy, they said, were small cut diamonds weighing 170 carats.

Cuba Angered Over Actions Of U.S. Envoy

HAVANA (UP)—Government anger rose today against U.S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith and there were reports he may be asked to leave the country because he visited rebel-held areas in eastern Cuba.

Total news censorship, imposed under a decree suspending civil rights for 45 days, veiled military developments in the area.

But in Havana Smith became the target of an unprecedented campaign of attacks by government spokesmen because of his critical comments Wednesday on police precautions in rebel-infested Santiago.

Informed circles said it was unlikely the administration would go so far as to throw him out of Cuba.

A Cuban "white house" spokesman announced, however, that Foreign Minister Gonzalo Gueil has been instructed to get hold of Smith "for the purpose of discussing his unfortunate declarations in Santiago."

The pro-government organ Altierta carried a statement by its publisher, Communications Minister Ramon Vasconcelos, accusing the ambassador of "imperialistic meddling" in Cuba's affairs.

"Mr. Smith has permitted himself to express opinions on domestic questions about which he knows nothing..." Vasconcelos said.

"He act with less tact than was to be expected from a diplomat just arrived in a country that is not an American colony, that has a legally constituted government and that is faced with an abnormal situation which it is trying to solve."

Minister without portfolio Jose Gonzalez Puente made a similar statement to newsmen after a cabinet meeting.

"Cuba rejects and repudiates anything which appears to be interference in its domestic affairs," Gonzalez said.

"It is unfortunate that... there should be any misconception as to the functions of a foreign diplomatic representative in a country which enjoys full sovereignty."

Chinese Reds Accuse Sect Of Plotting

HONG KONG (Reuters)—The New China (Communist) News Agency reported today that security police in Tientsin, southwest China, have unearthed a counter-revolutionary organization called the "Sword Society" whose aim was to stir up anti-Communist riots.

The society spread rumors that "the people will rise against the government in the month of August this year and a king will emerge from the strife," the agency said. It was uncovered in June.

Security police were said to have arrested the society's leader, Kan Tsai Yung, and his lieutenants, Yao Tse Wen, Kan Tsai Ta and Wang Tsung Hsiao.

Gorge Waters Not Polluted By New Tanks

The Gorge waters will not be polluted by the installation of septic tanks on Christie Point at Portage Inlet, according to the provincial health department.

This opinion was expressed in a letter to the Victoria Esquimalt Health Board which was concerned over prospective installation of septic tanks in a subdivision on the peninsula.

Inspection of the site, the department said, had shown the lots to be suitable for septic tank installation. It added that it did not believe Saanich would agree to connecting a sewer from the point to the Saanich system.

GUNMAN TAKES FAMILY ON JOURNEY OF TERROR

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N.Y. (UP)—A 25-year-old synagogue custodian abducted a Long Island family of three at gunpoint Thursday night and assaulted and terrorized them during a wild three-mile ride before police captured him.

Police said the alleged terrorist, Walter Ormand, clubbed the father with a gun butt and slashed the mother and daughter. Ormand was seized in a wooded area after fleeing the car near the synagogue where he was employed.

SUTTON PARK, England (CP)—The Canadian section of this jamboree camp was almost deserted today as its inhabitants piled into scores of chartered buses for a day's sight-seeing.

The tours are a popular feature of the jamboree. Each of the 34,000 Boy Scouts from 82 countries gets the opportunity of taking two of them during the two-week session.

The highlight of the jamboree for the 1,500-strong Canadian contingent comes Saturday when their half-hour display of scouting skills coincides with the Queen's visit to the camp.

The display under the direction of W. A. Speed of Halifax and J. V. Scrivener of Penticton, B.C., includes demonstrations of knot-tying by Saskatchewan and Manitoba scouts, lumbering activity by British Columbia representatives and bridge-building by a French-Canadian group.

18 on Trial In Killing Of President

QUATEMELA CITY (AP)—Eighteen persons are on trial before a military court for complicity in the assassination of President Carlos Castillo Armas.

Another 36 persons are being held for investigation, national security chief Israel Ortiz-Orellana disclosed Thursday night.

The 18 on trial were reported unofficially to be army officers and soldiers, possibly they also include palace guards, who technically are not in the army.

Castillo Armas was shot last Friday night by a palace guard, Romero Vasquez Sanchez, who officials said was a Communist fanatic. After killing the president, who ousted a Communist-tinged government three years ago, the guard killed himself.

Official reports at first gave the impression that the assassin acted on his own. The government announced last Monday, however, that eight palace guards had been arrested in connection with the killing, and other arrests were then rumored.

Custody Fight Over Douk Tots

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver student nurse is seeking custody of two nieces and a nephew orphaned last week when their Doukhobor mother, a member of the fanatical Sons of Freedom sect, committed suicide.

Hilda Glenger has made legal application for the three children of Mrs. Mary Glenger on behalf of Miss Glenger's parents and brother who have neighboring farms in the Rosedale area of the Fraser Valley and would like to have the children live there. The application likely will be heard Aug. 23 at Nelson, B.C.

The application is opposed by Helen Antifae of Penticton, B.C., whose elderly parents at present are caring for the children at Krestova where their widowed mother lived until her death July 24.

The eldest child, Patsy, 12, was a student at the government-operated New Denver, B.C., dormitory school until Mrs. Glenger's death. Police discounted a contention of Freedomite leaders that the woman, who was found hanged in an outside toilet, was despondent about Patsy's absence.

The girl was one of 89 Doukhobor children taken to New Denver when their parents refused to send them to day schools.

Miss Glenger said Thursday the other two children, Shirley, 7, and Freddy, 5, who have never been to school, speak Russian and apparently are unable to understand English.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Glenger moved to the Krestova Doukhobor community.

Miss Glenger said she and her brother were given normal upbringing by their German-born parents, who came to Canada from Russia.

She said the children were brought up in a normal Canadian manner until five years ago when Fred Glenger, their father and her brother, was killed in a crossing accident at Kamloops.

OUTDOOR REPORT BY Doug Peden

In the fleeting second before the charging Cape buffalo piled into the dirt, George Wurzburger was closer to destruction than at any other time in more than 25 years of hunting.

That was in 1948, the year he retired from the real estate business to satisfy a yen for globe-trotting and big-game hunting and was leisurely enjoying a six-month African safari.

He had stalked the big bull late the previous afternoon and made what he admits was a bad shot that smashed the buffalo's right foreleg.

Unable to catch up with the animal before darkness set in, he followed the unwritten law of big-game hunting—that a dangerous animal, once wounded, must be trailed and killed if humanly possible—and returned to the trail at daybreak. Almost five miles later, the bull burst out of a thicket, head lowered in the unwavering charge that is the trademark of the Cape buffalo.

It was close. When Wurzburger and his guide finally stopped the bull, George could have reached out and touched it with the barrel of his .500 rifle.

Although he can recall many other exciting moments among his hunting experiences in Europe, Africa, Mexico, Canada and the United States, the 58-year-old sportsman prefers to talk about his work with a camera, which has brought him his greatest satisfaction and his greatest fame.

President last year of the Adventures' Club—an exclusive fraternity limited to 200 men who have "left the beaten trails and faced danger in search of the unusual"—he has appeared several times on the "I Search for Adventure" television series and has also had many of his other films accepted for television.

There was nothing radically wrong with the game of Marlene, pride of Fonthill, Ont., with that of four other girls who matched Marlene's par 77. Marlene, who has international victories to her credit, now shares the runner-up spot at 77 with Mary Ellen Driscoll of Saint John N.B., Janet MacWha of suburban St. Lambert, Que., Donna Patton of Winnipeg and Rae Milligan of Calgary.

Judy's 73 also gave Quebec's four member team a one-stroke margin, at 323, over defending Ontario in the interprovincial team matches. Alberta was a close third with 326.

The two member junior teams, playing for the junior interprovincial championship on a net score basis, were well bunched. Ontario led with 164, followed by New Brunswick with 167, Saskatchewan and defending Quebec had 169.

Betty Stanhope, Edmonton, one of the real power hitters in the tournament, suffered from lack of control on the front nine and took a 41 but came down the back stretch in one under par 37 to finish with 78, five strokes away from Judy.

Miss Milligan's 77 led the Alberta team in the interprovincial matches with Miss Stanhope at 78 and Mary Gay closest with 81. Donna Patton's par 77 was Manitoba's best by nine strokes and Mrs. J. H. Todd, Victoria, led the British Columbia team with 86. B.C. with 351, was 10 strokes behind fourth-place Manitoba.

FOURTH BERTH ON GOLF TEAM TAKEN BY WILLEY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ron Willey of Vancouver's Fraserview Golf Course Thursday became the fourth member of British Columbia's Willingdon Cup team when he won a special playoff.

Willey came home with a one-under-par score of 71, four strokes better than Johnny Johnson of Marine Drive course, in the 18-hole medal playoff. The two tied Sunday in a 36-hole match with four other golfers to select the final B.C. cup player.

Other members of the team are Bob Kidd, Doug Bajus and Bert Tichhurst. They will travel to St. Charles, Winnipeg, Aug. 17 for the national championship.

IN LADIES' GOLF

Darling, Just 19, A Party-Wrecker

MONTREAL (CP)—Marlene Stewart Streit, grim little champion of champions, today found herself in danger of losing a golfing title she has won six years in a row.

This came about because a winsome blonde from Montreal gave an unmerciful beating to the Royal Montreal course Thursday and grabbed a four-stroke lead in the first round of the Canadian Ladies' 54 hole close championship.

Judy Darling, 19 years old and an even five feet, was the wrecker of the first round party. In the process of firing a sizzling 73—four strokes under women's par and only one above men's—Judy not only gave a shocking setback to Marlene but threatened to run away from the field of 100 before the tournament scarcely got started.

There was nothing radically wrong with the game of Marlene, pride of Fonthill, Ont., with that of four other girls who matched Marlene's par 77. Marlene, who has international victories to her credit, now shares the runner-up spot at 77 with Mary Ellen Driscoll of Saint John N.B., Janet MacWha of suburban St. Lambert, Que., Donna Patton of Winnipeg and Rae Milligan of Calgary.

Not Many, But Blows Were Big

Gorge Hotel moved into a seven and one-half game lead in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League Thursday night when they out-powered Arrow Furniture 6-3 at Central Park.

All but one of the game's nine runs came as a result of home runs with Vern Evans, Stan Stewart and Gordy Jones clearing the left field fence for the winners and Norm Curran belting out the Arrow homer.

Arrow's final run, in the bottom of the ninth, came on a double by Curran and a single by Len Anderson.

Barry Jackson was credited with the Gorge win. He gave up six hits while walking three and striking out eight. On the losing end was Don Ward, who held the powerful Gorge club to five safeties along with two walks and six strikeouts.

Los Angeles (UP)—Howard King, 1st. Reno, Nev., outpointed Bob Albright, 21st. San Fernando, Calif. (10).

Buffalo Most Dangerous to Hunt

George goes along with most African hunters and names the Cape buffalo as the most dangerous game although he has a world of respect for the elephant, rhino and leopard. He has found the elephant the most interesting animal to hunt.

Wurzburger finds it difficult to believe that cougars are still almost ignored by sportsmen on Vancouver Island, yet he hopes it is condition that won't change although he considers the mountain lion one of the continent's better trophies.

Usually travelling with Jack Butler, the famed 73-year-old Wyoming lion hunter who has over 1,000 of the big cats to his credit, Wurzburger has downed 12 cougars.

"But no more," he says. "Because of heavy hunting by professional hunters and sportsmen, I feel the mountain lion is doomed to extinction in the United States unless some restrictions are eventually imposed."

His attitude toward mountain lions also appears directed to most other animals. He is shooting more film and fewer bullets every year and the title of his last TV adventure film was "I Traded My Rifle for a Camera."

Yet, his guns are not all destined to gather dust. At lunch yesterday he was making plans to obtain one of the permits which will allow hunters to trim 30,000 animals from Wyoming's herd of 150,000 antelope this fall.

"I still like to hunt," he smiled.

'Hot-Rodders' No U.K. Problem

By TONY DICKASON

Great Britain has no teenage driving problems. Former executive vice-chairman of the Royal Automobile Club, R. C. Williams, said here today this is because "discipline of children is better than in Canada," based on the school system.

R. C. WILLIAMS
... official of RAC

He's here until September visiting his son-in-law, Hugh Stephen, 602 Newport, head of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

"Mr. Williams, 64, a car driver for a half century, and a RAC member 39 years, said he'd 'never come across' hot-rodgers in England.

Until recently, there had been no speed limits outside metropolitan areas. If people wanted to kill themselves with speed, official thinking seemed to be that this was entirely up to them.

But now, with cars so numerous, a clamp-down is in effect. There are low speed limit signs on country roads.

To Mr. Williams' parking meters are "an abomination," and answer to their elimination is to produce more off-street parking areas.

HEADS VIVELLA CO.

In London, where he heads the Vivella Co. Ltd., an 175-year-old textile firm, parking meters charges are "penal," he stated.

Charges are so high as time parked advances, it is smart to get moving—and this is the somewhat sinister planning by officialdom.

He suggested that funds realized from parking meters be used to finance construction of off-street parking facilities.

Mr. Williams said he had no idea why the rules of the English roads are "keep left."

Sensibly enough, English small cars are popular in England. These are cars that give about 50 miles to the gallon and a top speed of around 75 mph.

So interested have persons become in owning old cars that the RAC "will have to" set up a museum soon to display the models, he said.

Not at all apropos of cars, Mr. Williams' London office is in the home of early composer George Frederick Handel. The original staircase, which creaks, was built in 1690.

Highest Wage Deal Signed By Union, Mine

TORONTO (CP)—William Longridge, secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), announced Thursday the union has signed an agreement with Consolidated Denison Mines Limited providing for the highest wage rates in the Canadian industry.

The company operates a big uranium mine near Elliot Lake in the Blind River area.

The agreement—effective June 30—provides for an average immediate increase of 11 cents an hour with a reduction of hours to 40 a week from the present 48 in 14 months.

There will also be an average over-all wage increase in the 14-month period exceeding 50 cents hourly.

Under the agreement journey-men tradesmen will get $2.68, miners $2.20, surface labor $1.91, and mill operators $2.44.

In addition to wage increases, the agreement provides for six paid statutory holidays, a comprehensive health and welfare plan—30 per cent paid by the company—shift differentials, effective seniority, grievance procedure and union rights.

Saanich continues to boom in building, but Oak Bay and Esquimalt are lagging in total construction values in the first seven months of 1957, compared with the same period in 1956.

Building in Saanich for the first seven months totalled $1,648,550, compared to $3,510,440 recorded by this time in 1956. A total of 109 permits were issued at the Saanich building office during July for construction worth $674,050, compared to 103 permits from $473,215 worth of building in the same month last year.

Private dwelling construction value was $598,000 in July, and 3,294,700 for the seven-month period.

Oak Bay issued 34 permits for a total of $280,125. This compares with 48 permits for $303,690 in July in 1956.

To date this year, 270 permits for $1,471,961 worth of construction have been issued. In the first seven months of 1956, 236 permits for $1,605,691 construction were issued.

July's Esquimalt construction, 14 permits for $83,100, is down from the 19 permits for $105,375 issued in 1956. For the year, however, Esquimalt's figure is near the 1955 total. A boom in industrial and commercial construction last year brought the seven-month total to $1,356,930 for 143 permits.

Esquimalt's total to the end of July this year is 137 permits for $554,094.

Appearance Still Top Credential For Top Executives, Survey Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—The young men who get to the top of the business world in a hurry seem to be a dressy lot.

Replies from 140 of the young presidents of American corporations also suggest that they took time enough on their way up to shop for clothes, and that they still match the articles carefully before setting off each morning for the executive suite.

The survey was conducted by the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear to see if the young executive has been doing right by the apparel industry.

Asked how many suits each owned, the youthful bosses gave a range of 60 to three, with the average coming out at 14.3 a man—averages having a way of showing that odd decimal. They buy three or four suits a year, usually in the spring and fall.

SMART CREDENTIALS

The corporate chiefs think personal appearance is a help to them in carrying on their present tasks and also to any other man headed in the same direction. But they are much more emphatic about the sports category. The majority part the other fellow's personal appearance plays when they are six years, although 14 of them do regulate him up and they stress the impact upon them of a first impression.

Getting back to their 140 wardrobes, the shirt supply ranges from 100 to 10, averaging 29 each—with 23 of the shirts plain and six fancy.

The younger president is well stocked with socks. One man says he has 100 pairs. The average has 30, with 22 of them in solid colors and eight patterned.

He gets along with 10 pairs of shoes and four hats with one having 16.

One man has 200 neckties on his rack. The average is 65. But one executive finds 12 enough.

Mostly the top man makes do with two overcoats, two topcoats and 1.5 raincoats.

Living can be casual at times even on the heights. The corporate presidents own an average 3.8 sports coats, with the top number 15, and figure that one-fourth of their entire wardrobe is in the

New Zealand Eyes Canada As Bright Export Market

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealand is showing keen interest in the prospects of increasing exports to Canada.

Failure of a recent trade mission to win major concessions in Britain and the coming of the European common market are among factors which have caused New Zealand to look hard at its current export program.

The conclusion has been that country is far too much at the mercy of the British market and that new outlets for its goods are essential.

Canada is one of the first to come in for attention. The New Zealand trade commissioner in Canada, N. S. Mountain, now is visiting New Zealand and his calls in various towns have aroused extraordinary interest among businessmen.

The chief products New Zealand has to export are wool, meat, dairy produce and fruit. Wool offers little problem since it sells freely on a competitive world market.

This is what Mountain has been telling reporters about the prospects for other produce in Canada: Meat: Canada's rapidly increasing population and expanding economy are providing a growing market for New Zealand meat. Sheep population is declining and mutton and lamb consumption has fallen. Since lamb is New Zealand's largest meat export, promotion in a competitive market offers good prospects.

CHANGING PATTERN

Dairy produce: All are under some sort of import control at present. But with increasing population and the drift from the country to the cities, Canada is changing from an exporter to an importer of primary produce. New Zealand might be able to enter the dairy produce market again in 18 months to two years.

Apples: A good market has been established and the seasonal advantage enjoyed by New Zealand makes prospects bright.

Citizenry Aid Monk Dodge Zoo's Clutch

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UP)—Citizens here have taken quite a shine to a monkey whose King Kong adventure lasted nine days.

The little fellow, an escapee from the zoo, was the neighborhood delight as he successfully defied authority since July 21 only to, alas, come a cropper when greed overcame his better judgment.

There was nothing planned about the break. The monkey and three of his "pen pals" seized a golden opportunity when a keeper left a gate open while cleaning their pen. In a moment, they were gone.

His three friends didn't get very far and were quickly captured. He alone kept up the good flight. With the encouragement of neighbors and small children, he led his pursuers a merry chase through the park and the adjoining neighborhood.

When caretakers got too close, there was always someone to give him sufficient warning. He flitted gaily through the treetops. Children left food for him on lawns. He was free.

Then he saw a banana. It looked good. He grabbed it. Too late he realized he had walked into a trap. A door closed behind him, ending his escape.

Now, he's back in his cage. But, having tasted freedom, will bananas ever taste the same again?

Marilyn Loses Child In Real Life Drama

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn Monroe, wife of playwright Arthur Miller, lost her baby by an operation Thursday night in Doctors Hospital, a medical source reported today.

"The baby could not be saved and it was urgent to protect the life of the mother," said the source who declined use of his name.

The operation followed a fast ambulance trip from the Millers' summer home at Amagansett on the eastern end of Long Island.

An emergency call for the East Hampton Ambulance Service was made from the Miller home at noon Thursday.

DOCTOR HANDY

Dr. Hilliard Dubrow, New York gynecologist and one of Miss Monroe's physicians, happened to be in East Hampton at the time and travelled with stricken film star and her husband.

When she was admitted to the hospital one of her doctors said Miss Monroe was "five or six weeks pregnant and is expecting her child at the end of March." There have been persistent rumors she was expecting a child. She was wheeled from the ambulance in a stretcher.

It was learned that the operation was performed by Dr. Dubrow and Dr. Bernard Berglas, also a gynecologist.

Miss Monroe and Miller were married in a civil ceremony at White Plains, N.Y., on June 29, 1956. Two days later they were married in a Reform Jewish ceremony in South Salem, N.Y.

BRITISH PRESS HOSTILE

'Publicity Jamboree' Charge Irks Skelton

LONDON (Reuters)—Comedian Red Skelton, angry at suggestions he is using his leukemia stricken son as a publicity gimmick, today cut short his tour of England.

"Actors do not publicize on death," the comedian said. "And I don't believe my son is going to die."

His son, Richard, nine, has leukemia, a blood disease that is usually fatal. His parents are showing him many parts of the world so that he can see as much of life as possible.

Richard received a gracious welcome in Denmark, Italy, Spain and France.

But some sectors of the British press have been hostile.

Daily Sketch columnist Simon Ward complained Thursday Richard was being involved in a "three-ring circus of publicity and ballyhoo."

Ward said today Skelton replied with a bunch of lilies and a card that said: "Sorry that you are sick mentally and physically."

Ward said he sent the flowers to a hospital where they have sick children but "no publicity men, no press conferences, no TV cameras."

One critic on television called Skelton's sightseeing tour a "publicity jamboree."

Skelton then decided to cut short his visit to England because some persons have been "very unkind." He said he would visit Scotland, Denmark and then head for home.

STAR ALLERGIC TO TOMATOES CANCELS SHOW

ATHENS, Greece (UP)—A concert by opera star Maria Callas was cancelled here Thursday night because some members of the audience were reported ready to shower the stage with tomatoes.

The Athens festival announced the cancellation less than an hour before the curtain was due to rise, saying the fiery singer was suffering from a sore throat.

It was believed police had refused to guarantee order because of reports that Miss Callas would be booed and chased from the stage by tomatoes.

There has been widespread criticism of the singer here for accepting a $9,000 fee for two concerts. Newspaper critics carried reports she allegedly refused to give financial aid to her mother.

Hospital Claims Inability to Pay

VERNON—The administrator of the Vernon Hospital says the hospital cannot pay the wages demanded by non-medical employees, who J. O. Dale said the hospital had a $15,000 deficit last year. He said the award of a conciliation board to workers would cost $9,500 a year.

"We have written to the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service asking if it will pick up the entire cost of the demands but so far we have received no answer," Mr. Dale said.

The strike threat has been made by 80 employees of the Hospital Employees Union, Local 180.

Bill Black, union business manager, said the workers are determined to get a conciliation award of ten cents an hour retroactive to Jan. 1 plus a $7.50 increase in monthly wages for men, and five cents an hour for women.

Mr. Dale said the Vernon hospital pays wages as high as are paid in other Okanagan hospitals.

"Wage contracts in the other hospitals don't run out until December. I don't see why we should pay any increase at least until that time."

NEW UBC BUILDINGS

VANCOUVER—Two federal buildings costing $2,675,000 are scheduled to be built on the UBC campus.

They will form a three-unit block with a forest products laboratory now under construction and expected to open before Christmas.

Tenders have been let for a Fisheries technological station to be built within two years at a cost of $675,000.

Final drawings for a new science services laboratory for the federal department of agriculture are expected to be completed within two weeks and will be forwarded to Ottawa for approval.

The building will cost about $2,000,000.

Cuba Angered Over Actions Of U.S. Envoy

HAVANA (UP)—Government anger rose today against U.S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith and there were reports he may be asked to leave the country because he visited rebel-held areas in eastern Cuba.

Total news censorship, imposed under a decree suspending civil rights for 45 days, veiled military developments in the area.

But in Havana Smith became the target of an unprecedented campaign of attacks by government spokesmen because of his critical comments Wednesday on police precautions in rebel-infested Santiago.

Informed circles said it was unlikely the administration would go so far as to throw him out of Cuba.

A Cuban "white house" spokesman announced, however, that Foreign Minister Gonzalo Guell has been instructed to get hold of Smith "for the purpose of discussing his unfortunate declarations in Santiago."

The pro-government organ Albino carried a statement by its publisher, Communications Minister Ramon Vasconcelos, accusing the ambassador of "imperialistic meddling" in Cuba's affairs.

"Mr. Smith has permitted himself to express opinions on domestic questions about which he knows nothing," Vasconcelos said.

"He act with less tact than was to be expected from a diplomat just arrived in a country that is not an American colony, that has a legally constituted government and that is faced with an abnormal situation which it is trying to solve."

Minister without portfolio Jose Gonzalez Puente made a similar statement to newsmen after a cabinet meeting.

"Cuba rejects and repudiates anything which appears to be interference in its domestic affairs," Gonzalez said.

"It is unfortunate that there should be any misconception as to the functions of a foreign diplomatic representative in a country which enjoys full sovereignty."

Chinese Reds Accuse Sect Of Plotting

HONG KONG (Reuters)—The New China (Communist) News Agency reported today that security police in Tientsin, southwest China, have unearthed a counter-revolutionary organization called the "Sword Society" whose aim was to stir up anti-Communist riots.

The society spread rumors that "the people will rise against the government in the month of August this year and a king will emerge from the strife," the agency said. It was uncovered in June.

Security police were said to have arrested the society's leader, Kan Tsai Yung, and his lieutenants, Yao Tse Wen, Kan Tsai Ta and Wang Tsung Hsiao.

GUNMAN TAKES FAMILY ON JOURNEY OF TERROR

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N.Y. (UP)—A 25-year-old synagogue custodian abducted a Long Island family of three at gunpoint Thursday night and assaulted and terrorized them during a wild three-mile ride before police captured him.

Police said the alleged terrorist, Walter Ormand, clubbed the father with a gun butt and slashed the mother and daughter. Ormand was seized in a wooded area after fleeing the car near the synagogue where he was employed.

SUTTON PARK, England (CP)—The Canadian section of this jamboree camp was almost deserted today as its inhabitants piled into scores of chartered buses for a day's sight-seeing.

The tours are a popular feature of the jamboree. Each of the 34,000 Boy Scouts from 82 countries gets the opportunity of taking two of them during the two-week session.

The highlight of the jamboree for the 1,500-strong Canadian contingent comes Saturday when their half-hour display of scouting skills coincides with the Queen's visit to the camp.

The display under the direction of W. A. Speed of Halifax and J. V. Scrivener of Penitence, B.C., includes demonstrations of knot-tying by Saskatchewan and Manitoba scouts, lumbering activity by British Columbia representatives and bridge-building by a French-Canadian group.

Thursday night's program included an impressive torch light procession by Swiss scouts, who paraded through the camp carrying paper lanterns. Many Canadians attended a movie biography of the late Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Scout movement, whose 100th anniversary is being observed at the jamboree.

There were red faces among some of the troops later when the camp fire department had to answer more than a score of minor calls as strong winds blew life into the ashes of camp fires which under basic scouting law, should have been thoroughly extinguished. There were no guilty parties in the Canadian camp.

Himmler Aide Sentenced To 10 Years

OSNABRUCK, Germany (Reuters)—Udo von Woysch, 62, former personal aide to Heinrich Himmler, head of the Gestapo, today was sentenced to 10 years in prison for his part in mass executions of Nazi Brown-shirts on and about June 30, 1934.

This was known as "the night of the long knives," and followed an alleged plot by Brown-shirt leader Ernst Roehm against Hitler.

Woysch, former SS leader in Silesia, was found guilty of aiding in manslaughter in eight cases.

He will have to serve only 2½ years because previous prison terms imposed for being a member of a criminal organization will be deducted.

Woysch and his defence counsel said they would appeal.

The 18 on trial were reported unofficially to be army officers and soldiers, possibly they also include palace guards, who technically are not in the army.

Castillo Armas was shot last Friday night by a palace guard, Romero Vasquez Sanchez, who officials said was a Communist fanatic. After killing the president, who ousted a Communist-tinged government three years ago, the guard killed himself.

Official reports at first gave the impression that the assassin acted on his own. The government announced last Monday, however, that eight palace guards had been arrested in connection with the killing, and other arrests were then rumored.

Security police were said to have arrested the society's leader, Kan Tsai Yung, and his lieutenants, Yao Tse Wen, Kan Tsai Ta and Wang Tsung Hsiao.

Custody Fight Over Douk Tots

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver student nurse is seeking custody of two nieces and a nephew orphaned last week when their Doukhobor mother, a member of the fanatical Sons of Freedom sect, committed suicide.

Hilda Glenger has made legal application for the three children of Mrs. Mary Glenger on behalf of Miss Glenger's parents and brother who have neighboring farms in the Rosedale area of the Fraser Valley and would like to have the children live there. The application likely will be heard Aug. 23 at Nelson, B.C.

The application is opposed by Helen Antifae of Penitence, B.C., whose elderly parents at present are caring for the children at Krestova where their widowed mother lived until her death July 24.

The eldest child, Patsy, 12, was a student at the government-operated New Denver, B.C., dormitory school until Mrs. Glenger's death. Police discounted a contention of Freedomite leaders that the woman, who was found hanged in an outside toilet, was despondent about Patsy's absence.

The girl was one of 89 Doukhobor children taken to New Denver when their parents refused to send them to day schools.

Miss Glenger said Thursday the other two children, Shirley, 7, and Freddy, 5, who have never been to school, speak Russian and apparently are unable to understand English.

She said the children were brought up in a normal Canadian manner until five years ago when Fred Glenger, their father and her brother, was killed in a crossing accident at Kamloops.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Glenger moved to the Krestova Doukhobor community.

Miss Glenger said she and her brother were given normal upbringing by their German-born parents, who came to Canada from Russia.

Merchant Held In Smuggling

NEW-YORK (AP)—A diamond merchant is being held in $20,000 bail in connection with an attempt to smuggle into the United States $12,500 worth of gems concealed in a toy dog. Julius Czerniak, 42, was arrested Thursday at his home by customs agents. The agents confiscated a toy dachshund on wheels about 10 inches long. Inside the toy, they said, were small cut diamonds weighing 170 carats.

Gorge Waters Not Polluted By New Tanks

The Gorge waters will not be polluted by the installation of septic tanks on Christie Point at Portage Inlet, according to the provincial health department. This opinion was expressed in a letter to the Victoria Esquimalt Health Board which was concerned over prospective installation of septic tanks in a subdivision on the peninsula. Inspection of the site, the department said, had shown the lots to be suitable for septic tank installation. It added that it did not believe Saanich would agree to connecting a sewer from the point to the Saanich system.

Ladysmith Plans Parking By-Law To Help Stores

LADYSMITH—City council this week started proceedings to prepare a by-law to solve the parking problems that plague the city along First Avenue, main business street in the city.

BCHIS Kills Public Plan For Hospital

LAKE COWICHAN (CP)—Residents of this area who donated $67,000 towards a proposed Lake Cowichan hospital had their contributions returned Thursday following refusal of the provincial government to approve the project.

The scheme was launched in June, 1954, when a public meeting was called and a Lake Cowichan Hospital Society formed. Several lumber companies offered to match contributions of their employees.

Officials of the society said four briefs presented to the provincial government failed to secure approval of the department of health and the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service. A site had been chosen and several surveys made.

A total of 840 local residents made contributions to the fund, many through payroll deductions.

View Royal Plans Fiesta to Raise Centennial Funds

LUXTON — South Vancouver Island Rangers' Park, on Happy Valley Road here, will be the scene Saturday of the first of a series of fiestas to be staged by View Royal Centennial Committee.

Funds raised will be used for development of the committee's scheme for a park on Portage Inlet.

The fiesta will run from 1 p.m. to dark. Food to be served will include home-made pies, a barbecue, and clam chowder cooked by Dave McMillan.

View Royal and Langford volunteer firemen will meet in a softball game, and a horseshoe pitching competition will take place. Veteran Stages leave Herald Street for the park, nine miles from Victoria.

Youth of Month Plan Considered

CHEMAMUS — A youth of the month program will be considered by the Rotary Club.

Maury Low, club youth committee chairman, suggested the program as a means of publicizing the achievements of the young people of the district. All too often, he said, the bad things youngsters do receive publicity. He recommended that the club honor an outstanding boy or girl each month.

Ald. P. R. Battie and Ald. Tom Strang were named as a special committee to prepare a parking by-law after Mayor Len Ryan reported on the problems of a trucking firm trying to make deliveries to stores.

Police will not permit big semi-trailer trucks to park on the street, he said. He said the Nanaimo manager of the freight company had agreed to make deliveries at the rear of business premises on the west side of the street, but rear deliveries were not possible on the east side because there is no lane behind some of the buildings.

"I think a two-hour parking limit would help the situation," the mayor said.

The council was on the point of passing a new by-law earlier this year to restrict parking during business hours to two hours, but the Chamber of Commerce requested that action be deferred until a voluntary system of parking restrictions could be tried out.

At that time a committee of the chamber asked businessmen and their staffs to park their cars on side streets, leaving First Avenue clear for customers.

Ald. Battie said it was apparent that the voluntary system had not worked out, so the only alternative for the council was to go ahead with the by-law.

"I believe that the parking space in the business section belongs to all the people and not just the people who get there first," Mayor Ryan said.

HEAVE HO BY SEA-GOING MOUNTIES

Red-coated members of RCMP caused considerable excitement at Seattle when they docked patrol vessel for 10-day visit as guests at annual Seafair celebration. Watching docking, at

MEMBERS' IRISH UP

Overall in Murphy Chowder Okay But 'Mick' Stirs House Clambake

WASHINGTON (UP)—Members of Congress including the Irish agreed today it was an Irishman who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder. But the lawmakers disagreed on whether it's an insult to the Irish to refer to the guilty party as a "Mick."

Rep. Thomas J. O'Neill (Dem.-Mass.) raised the question during a hearing before the usually solemn House rules committee, called to consider whether to investigate radio-TV networks for Stephen Foster's folk songs to take out words such as "Dankies" and "Massa."

Southerners have raised a clamor about the editing, calling it censorship and a distortion of native American folk music. O'Neill said if anything should be banned from the air it is the words to the song, "Who Threw the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder?" he was particularly concerned about the "insulting" lines:

"It's an Irish trick it's true, and I can lick the Mick who threw the overalls in Mrs. Murphy's chowder."

A quick check found little support for O'Neill among his Irish colleagues.

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan

(Dem.-O.) told a reporter he wouldn't worry about being called a Mick—"if that's the worst they're going to call us." "The Irish are the only people I ever heard sing the song," said Rep. John S. Rooney (Dem.-N.Y.). "I don't think we'd sing it if we thought it was insulting."

The committee decided to take no action on the resolution to launch an inquiry despite complaints from Reps. Frank Chelf (Dem.-Ky.) and D. R. Matthews (Dem.-Fla.) that the networks were practicing censorship and undermining American culture.

Informed of O'Neill's complaint about the chowder song Rep. Wayne L. Hays (Dem.-O.) of predominately Scotch ancestry, said: "The only one who would be insulted about the overalls is Mrs. Murphy."

NANAIMO FLYER SUNK

Tug Capsizes, 3 Crewmen Safe

NANAIMO (CP)—The three-man crew of a Nanaimo tug was rescued Thursday when the vessel capsized and sank in tide-swept waters six miles southeast of here.

Skipper Bill Crawshaw and crewmen George Shuker and Ken Dunn, all of Nanaimo, leaped into the water when the 47-foot Nanaimo Flyer was caught in a cross current and overturned. They were picked up minutes later by the fisheries vessel Atlin Post.

The vessel, owned by the Nanaimo Towing Company, was

northern Turkey, or could be more limited as long as it included a significant part of Soviet territory.

Dulles, speaking on behalf of the four Western members of the subcommittee, proposed that a working group of experts be set up "as a matter of urgency" to examine the technical problems involved.

The offer provided for "aerial inspection, with ground observation posts at principal ports, railroad junctions, main highways and important airfields, etc., as agreed."

"There would also, as agreed, be mobile ground teams with specifically defined authority."

Ground posts could, under agreement, be established to operate outside the zones of aerial inspection, Dulles said. But the areas open to ground inspection should not be less than the areas of aerial inspection.

He said any initial inspection system could later be extended so that "ultimately the system will deal with the danger of surprise attack from anywhere."

Dulles came to the conference table with the approval of the 15-member NATO council. Its members had to be consulted since territories outside the United States, Canada, France and Britain were involved.

The two inspection areas of interest, in order of priority were: 1. All the territory of the continental United States, all Alaska including the Aleutian Islands, all the territory of Canada, and all the territory of the Soviet Union.

2. Alternatively, all territory north of the Arctic Circle of the Soviet Union, Canada, United States Alaska, Denmark Greenland and Norway, and all territory of Canada, the United States and the Soviet Union west of 140 degrees west longitude and north of 50 degrees north latitude.

Logging Strike Still Threatens

COURTENAY (CP)—Possibility of a major loggers' strike in the Courtenay area still exists, states secretary Jake Epp of the International Woodworkers' of America.

Although a majority of logging operators and IWA members voted in favor of the July 5 contract settlement, four firms have not agreed to the terms.

Marshalling point for crews of Comox Logging Co. in Courtenay also is an unsettled item from the 1955 contract, Mr. Epp states.

Toten Pole and Piling, Olympic Forest Products, Baikie Brothers Logging and Bendickson Logging are the firms which have not agreed to all the contract terms.

A strike may be called against these companies unless they accept the terms, said the IWA official.
